Senate Members Balk At Water Bond Push

LANSING (AP) — The State Senate planned today to take up a measure allocating a major portion of the $335 million water pollution bond issue authorized in the November election.

Senate Republican leaders pushed for immediate action Monday night on some 20 House amendments to the bill passed swiftly through the upper chamber earlier in the session. But many Democrats and a few Republicans balked. "When this bill left this Senate, it was not in proper shape," charged Sen. L. Harvey Lodge, R-Waterford, who objected to a leadership motion that House amendments be rejected and the bill be sent to conference committee.

More Time
Lodge also had objected to the speedy initial Senate action on the bill, saying members should have more than one day to study implications of the proposal. "I'm sick of having stuff shoved down our throats when it is not in the best interests of the people of Michigan," Lodge added, moving that his remarks be printed in the Senate journal. Sen. Milton Zaagman, R-Grand Rapids, urged the Senate to reject Lodge's motion, saying the remarks "crucify" those who worked on the bill when it first was before the upper chamber.

The Senate should not "stifle" Lodge, "they should not gag him," argued Sen. Basil Brown, D-Highland Park. "I am not willing to accept (committee) judgment on the amendments," Brown added. "I demand my right to know what those amendments are."

Procedures

Senate Majority leader Emil Lockwood, R-St. Louis, and Sen. Michael O'Brien D - Detroit, both said the House-passed amendments had appeared in legislative journals of last week. The amendments were tacked on when the House passed the bill setting up procedures by which local communities may apply for monies from a $285 million bond for water treatment construction.

The measure specifies that construction projects would be reviewed by the State Water Resources Commission. Final authorization by joint legislative resolution would have to come within 45 days after commission action or its recommendations would automatically be approved for construction bids.

A second bill, also passed Friday in the House, involves $50 million for communities which do not qualify for other state or federal funds to build connection sewers to reach nearby treatment plants.

Meat Prices Up Despite Supply

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says the rising cost of meat, a major factor in the unexpected jump in this year's food prices, comes at a time when there are abundant supplies of livestock.

"The strength in livestock and meat prices in the face of larger supplies is due to rising consumer incomes, unusually low unemployment rates and increases in population," the department said Monday.

Officials indicated, in effect, that higher prices on both the wholesale and retail level, are the result of more people willing to pay more money to eat more beef.

Department officials indicated last week that previous estimates of a 2 to 2.5 per cent rise in food costs this year were too low and the figure more likely will be about 3 per cent.

A report on the food outlook is scheduled for release by the department Thursday.

Cattle prices have set the pace for the increasing cost of livestock, already at a 17-year-high. Agriculture economists said, and are expected to continue running "well above" a year ago.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the retail price of sirloin steak in March averaged $1.23 a pound nationally, the highest since sirloin records were started in 1960. A year ago sirloin cost $1.18 a pound.

Chuck roast in March cost 66 cents a pound, compared with 63 cents a year earlier. The high was 76 cents a pound in December 1961, a period of record cattle prices.

Hamburger averaged 58 cents a pound in March, compared with 55 cents a year earlier and the top of 67 cents in April 1961. The rising cost of food is only part of the reason for the inflation that is worrying the government. The latest figures for the Consumer Price Index, including food as well as other items, showed a jump of eight-tenths of one per cent for March, the steepest monthly rise in 18 years.

Appropriation Committee Tacks Parochial To School Aid Bill

LANSING (AP) — The House Appropriations Committee called Monday for a token $100,000 in parochial funds to the present state school aid bill and declared the practice of giving state aid to nonpublic schools was in "the public good and general welfare."

Further changes were expected in the $845.44 million, Senate-approved bill before a final committee vote. The Senate did not include parochial in its school bill for the 1969-70 school year.

The parochial amendment also calls for an additional $44 million to go church-run schools for the 1970-71 school year. The amount has been estimated as three per cent of all current federal, state and local contributions to public school operations.

Hellman Absent

Committee approval came on a 10-3 vote. Majority floor leader George F. Montgomery, a parochial opponent, declined to vote and Russell Hellman, D-Dollar Bay, did not attend the meeting.

The committee's addition of the amendment thus sends the controversial parochial concept to the House floor on the coattails of the general public school operation appropriations. If House speaker William Ryan and his chief parochial lieutenant, J. Robert Traxler, D-Bay City, muster the more than 56 required votes they say they now have, the concept of state aid to church-run schools would be clearly spelled out.

William Copeland, D-Wyandotte, appropriations committee chairman, said changes were requested in the funds big city schools receive from the state equalized valuation formula. The formula might be changed or more money stipulated outright, Copeland said.

Indirectly
Under the amendment, the State Board of Education would pay teachers and other professionals for secular teaching and services. No state funds would go directly to a school or parent and none could be used for primarily religious activities.

Mao Takes Step Towards Unity

TOKYO (AP) — In his first major move to restore unity after nearly three years of strife, Mao Tse-tung's forces today held out the olive branch to all but "absolutely unrepentant di-hards" in Communist China.

Mao's new soft line spelled out in the official Peking People's Daily two weeks after the 75-year-old Communist party chairman's ideas were made the law of the land by the ninth party congress.

An editorial by commentator Jen Ping expressed willingness to "unite with, educate and remold" the intellectuals who have resisted him, "to save all those who can be saved" and even those who formerly were classified as enemies.

Reporting that almost all of these "are to be given a way out," the paper added: "With the exception of isolating and hitting hard at the very few absolutely unrepentant di-hards, the proletariat tries in every way to remold all those who can be remolded. This will be beneficial to the proletariat and harmful to its enemies."

Mao's offer apparently does not extend to ousted President Liu Shao-chi. The editorial said Liu's influence may breed "stubborn resistance," particularly in high cultural and educational circles.

"We recognize in all soberness that the class struggle in the ideological and political spheres will not stop simply because we have seized power," the newspaper continued. "Fierce struggles" and "repeated trials of strength" are still expected within the party, government and army superstructure.

Today's Chuckle

Wives are not like fishermen. Wives brag about the ones that got away and complain about the one they caught.

Eligible services would include teaching mathematics, science and foreign languages. An eligible, state-certified teacher would receive no more than 75 per cent of his salary from state funds and could get less if part of his duties included religious instruction.

The parochial rider begins with a manifesto-like statement of intent that reads in part: "The Legislature declares as public policy... that the public good and general welfare require state appropriations be extended to provide opportunities for a quality secular education to children attending nonpublic elementary and high schools, as part of a program to foster and encourage knowledge..."

Limited
No parochial school teacher would be eligible for state-financed teacher retirement programs.

Church and other privately operated schools would be limited to 20 per cent of the total annual state school appropriation.

In addition, each private school's share for each enrolled pupil would be fixed at $675 less than the per-pupil public school allocation.

Parochial backers originally proposed a $600 deduction but that was raised to reflect per-pupil cost of more than $154 million in teacher-retirement funds.

Under the amendment, $60 is assumed to be the average annual tuition a parent would pay to send his child to a private school.

Other deductions would be from the basic, per-pupil grant made to cover services provided to private schools by public school districts.

Lebanese Army To Retaliate On Guerrilla Raids

By The Associated Press
Angered by three attacks on its men, the Lebanese army says it will crack down on the Palestinian guerrillas in southern Lebanon. But its announcement did not specify whether the "retaliatory measures" would include preventing commando raids across the border into Israel.

One soldier was killed and three army trucks were destroyed in the clashes during the weekend, the army said.

The armed forces "had used patience in dealing with the deteriorating situation in the south," the communique continued, "but they are reacting with bitterness to the incidents which are being committed daily with the aim of diverting military efforts concentrated on the front lines facing the enemy..."

It said the incidents, "provoked by irresponsible elements," require "the imposition of military deterrent measures for the safety of the army and the maintenance of its morale."

The army blamed Al Saika, a guerrilla group affiliated with Syria's ruling Baath party, for the recent incidents. It was the first official admission of a widening split between the army and the guerrillas, who want to use Lebanon as a base for raids against Israel. Lebanon is half Christian and half Moslem, and the government has opposed giving the guerrillas free rein, fearing Israel would retaliate with strikes against Lebanon.

MELROSE, Mass. (AP) — Lt. Stephen B. Harris, intelligence officer aboard the USS Pueblo, said today he was "very, very happy" over Navy Secretary John H. Chafee's decision not to take any disciplinary action against the Pueblo's officers.

Captain, Harris Have Suffered Enough: Chafee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy Secretary John H. Chafee said today the court of inquiry into the Pueblo incident recommended general court martial for the intelligence ship's captain, Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher, and one of his chief assistants but "I have decided that no disciplinary action will be taken against any of the personnel involved..."

Chafee's disclosure came in a six and a half-page report on the exhaustive court of inquiry probe into the ship's takeover by North Korea on Jan. 23, 1968.

Not Justified
In overruling the court's recommendation for court martials of Bucher and Lt. Stephen R. Harris, Chafee said: "They have suffered enough, and further punishment would not be justified."

Harris was the officer in charge of the research detachment aboard the Pueblo, which was conducting an electronic eavesdropping mission off North Korea when she was seized.

Chafee reported these recommendations had been made by the court of inquiry:

—That Bucher be tried by general court martial for five alleged offenses including permitting his ship to be searched while he had the power to resist, failing to take protective measures during the attack, complying with North Korean orders to follow them into port, "negligently failing" to destroy all classified material on the ship, and "negligently failing" to see that his crew was fairly skilled in procedures for destroying classified material.

Lack Ability
—That Harris be tried by general court martial "for three alleged offenses of dereliction in performance of his duties," mainly dealing with the lack of ability and readiness on the part of the research detachment to be able to destroy all classified materials during an emergency.

—That Lt. Edward R. Murphy Jr., executive officer of the Pueblo, be given a letter of admonition for failing "to organize and lead the crew on the day of the seizure especially in the ship's major internal task of emergency destruction of classified material."

—That letters of reprimand be given to Rear Adm. Frank L. Johnson, commander of naval forces in Japan and Capt. Everett B. Gladding, now retired.

Insure Readiness
The court held that Johnson, who has since moved to a new assignment, was "derelict in the performance of duty" by failing to plan properly for emergency support for the Pueblo in a confrontation and "negligently failing" to verify destruction procedures for classified documents.

Gladding, then director of the naval security group in the Pacific, was held by the court to have been derelict for "failing to develop procedures to insure the readiness" of the Pueblo's research section.

While Chafee praised "the completely objective approach" of the court of inquiry, he noted that Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chief of naval operations, as well as the commander in chief of the U.S. Pacific Fleet both "declined to accept" the panel's recommendations for general court martials of Bucher and Harris.

No Judgment
Said Chafee: "I make no judgment regarding the guilt or innocence of any of the officers of the offenses alleged against them."

He said such a judgment would require further legal proceedings such as trial by court martial.

"I am convinced, however, that neither individual discipline, nor the state of discipline or morale in the Navy, nor any other interest requires further legal proceedings with respect to any personnel involved in the Pueblo incident."

Tearing Down 'Earth Garden'

MUSKEGON (AP)—A Muskegon woman's controversial artistic "earth garden," composed of foundry clinkers, railroad ties, transformers and metal shavings, is being torn down.

But Mrs. J. Kelly Kaufman, wife of a prominent industrialist, says destruction of the garden located on a vacant lot was not due to pressure from the city of Muskegon, which had threatened court action.

"I have lived in my house for 28 years," she said, "and I have always had pleasant relations with my neighbors. But I think some of them would be more comfortable if the lot were placed back into its original status."

"I have ordered cranes to remove the transformers," Mrs. Kaufman said. They weigh 4,000 pounds each, she said, and "are to me beautiful art forms."

Mrs. Kaufman said her earth garden, which was declared a dangerous nuisance by city officials, is a recognized form of contemporary art.

Vote No Beard For President

PORTLAND, Maine (AP) — Second graders at North School got a friendly letter from President Nixon complete with pictures of his dogs but didn't receive the assurance they wanted — that he won't grow a beard.

The children wrote to Nixon a while ago that they had voted 19-5 against his over growing a beard.

They asked the President about his dogs, and also told him that some of them would vote for him, including Charles, if his mother would let him.

In his reply, Nixon told them: "I was delighted to hear from all of you. To answer your questions, I like living in the White House. I also share your interest in pets, and I want you to know our dogs, Vickie, Pasha and Tim, are enjoying their White House home too."

"It is encouraging to know that some of you feel you would vote for me. Although I think your friend, Charlie, should do as his mother says, I hope that I can do enough for our country to convince her that his choice is a good one."

Nixon made no mention of beard.

No Congressional Action Is Likely In Fortas Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress appears unlikely to take any action against Justice Abe Fortas and certainly won't impeach him for receiving a fee from the family of financier Louis E. Wolfson after being a member of the Supreme Court.

A flurry of proposals for a Senate Judiciary Committee inquiry into Fortas' receipt of the fee brought the reply from Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., that there are no plans for an investigation at this time.

"I am not sure we have jurisdiction," Eastland said. "Under the Constitution it seems to me that jurisdiction lies with the House."

This reference to the House's power to bring impeachment proceedings requiring trial before the Senate, found Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N.Y., chairman of the House Judiciary Committee in no mood to institute such action.

"I have no intention of starting any impeachment proceedings," he said in a separate interview.

No Impeachment
Life magazine reported in its current issue that Fortas accepted $20,000 from Wolfson's family foundation in January 1968, just three months after the justice was seated on the court.

The Life account said Fortas did not return the money until 11 months had passed and three months after Wolfson and an associate had been indicted for violating federal securities laws.

The article also said "whatever services he may or may not have rendered to the foundation, Justice Fortas' name was being dropped in strategic places by Wolfson and his business associate, Elkin Gerbert, in their effort to stay out of prison."

Denial

Fortas flatly denied he accepted any money or that he tried to do anything on Wolfson's behalf. He confirmed, however, that a fee had been tendered by the foundation for research and writing and that he returned the money after deciding he could not accept the assignment.

Fortas, whose old law firm represented some Wolfson interests, said the foundation works to better race relations. His statement made no mention of the amount of money involved nor when he returned it.

When Wolfson's appeal reached the high court, Fortas abstained from taking part in the deliberations. The court refused to hear the appeal.

No Reprimand
An influential Democrat, who did not want to be quoted by name, said there is little likelihood of even a Congressional reprimand for Fortas.

"He was indiscreet, but he didn't do anything illegal," this Democrat said. Republicans who led the chorus of Senate criticism against the justice concede privately there is not much that could be done.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois came closest to admitting this publicly when he said the justice had been guilty of "no impeachable conduct."

The Wolfson incident is the second time Fortas has come under congressional fire for his financial dealings. When he was nominated last year by President Johnson to be chief justice, many of those opposing him questioned his propriety in accepting $15,000 to conduct a seminar at the American University law school.

After this and other criticisms made it evident that Senate confirmation was doubtful, Fortas asked Johnson to withdraw the nomination.

Police Guard Highland Campus

HIGHLAND PARK, Mich. (AP) — Police planned to keep a close watch at Highland Park College for the second day in a row today, after guarding the campus Monday to make sure students could pass through picket lines put up by striking demonstrators.

Chanting for student power and for ouster of a college dean, up to 175 students picketed the college Monday. Another 500 students—apparently sympathizers—watched.

Police said some students "got a little rowdy" when officers cleared sidewalks around the school as administrators estimated between 33 and 60 per cent of the 4,400-member student body reported for classes. One student was arrested.

Madison Police Battle Hippies

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — Police skirmished with students and hippies for a third consecutive night amid flaming barricades and clouds of tear gas in the heart of Wisconsin's capital city.

Violence continued despite a personal effort by Mayor William Dyke to persuade hippie residents of Mifflin Street, where the trouble started, to stay in their homes.

Quickly thrown-together barricades made of cans of blazing trash remained the favored tactic of hippies and their University of Wisconsin student neighbors from the Mifflin Street area, where many Bohemian types have their homes.

But firefighters said firebombs were used for the first time, and students also snarled traffic on State Street in the central business district.

About a half dozen additional arrests were made, bringing to 110 the total arrested since police broke up a hippie block party last Saturday. Hospitals treated five more persons for injuries or the effect of irritant gas, including a 6-month-old baby exposed to tear gas, making a total of nearly 70. Of these, 18 were policemen.

Rain helped to curb the disorder by 2:30 a.m. today.

"I didn't come to make any promises. I can't do that," Mayor Dyke told the hippies. "There have been mistakes on both sides."

Chanting for student power and for ouster of a college dean, up to 175 students picketed the college Monday. Another 500 students—apparently sympathizers—watched.

Police said some students "got a little rowdy" when officers cleared sidewalks around the school as administrators estimated between 33 and 60 per cent of the 4,400-member student body reported for classes. One student was arrested.

Captain, Harris Have Suffered Enough: Chafee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Navy Secretary John H. Chafee said today the court of inquiry into the Pueblo incident recommended general court martial for the intelligence ship's captain, Cmdr. Lloyd Bucher, and one of his chief assistants but "I have decided that no disciplinary action will be taken against any of the personnel involved..."

Chafee's disclosure came in a six and a half-page report on the exhaustive court of inquiry probe into the ship's takeover by North Korea on Jan. 23, 1968.

Not Justified In overruling the court's recommendation for court martial of Bucher and Lt. Stephen R. Harris, Chafee said: "They have suffered enough, and further punishment would not be justified."

Harris was the officer in charge of the research detachment aboard the Pueblo, which was conducting an electronic eavesdropping mission off North Korea when she was seized.

Chafee reported these recommendations had been made by the court of inquiry:

—That Bucher be tried by general court martial for five alleged offenses including permitting his ship to be searched while he had the power to resist, failing to take protective measures during the attack, complying with North Korean orders to follow them into port, "negligently failing" to destroy all classified material on the ship, and "negligently failing" to see that his crew was fairly skilled in procedures for destroying classified material.

Lack Ability —That Harris be tried by general court martial "for three alleged offenses of dereliction in performance of his duties," mainly dealing with the lack of ability and readiness on the part of the research detachment to be able to destroy all classified materials during an emergency.

—That Lt. Edward R. Murphy Jr., executive officer of the Pueblo, be given a letter of admonition for failing "to organize and lead the crew on the day of the seizure especially in the ship's major internal task of emergency destruction of classified material."

—That letters of reprimand be given to Rear Adm. Frank L. Johnson, commander of naval forces in Japan and Capt. Everett B. Gladding, now retired.

Insure Readiness The court held that Johnson, who has since moved to a new assignment, was "derelict in the performance of duty" by failing to plan properly for emergency support for the Pueblo in a confrontation and "negligently failing" to verify destruction procedures for classified documents.

Gladding, then director of the naval security group in the Pacific, was held by the court to have been derelict for "failing to develop procedures to insure the readiness" of the Pueblo's research section.

While Chafee praised "the completely objective approach" of the court of inquiry, he noted that Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chief of naval operations, as well as the commander in chief of the U.S. Pacific Fleet both "declined to accept" the panel's recommendations for general court martial of Bucher and Harris.

No Judgment Said Chafee: "I make no judgment regarding the guilt or innocence of any of the officers of the offenses alleged against them."

He said such a judgment would require further legal proceedings such as trial by court martial.

"I am convinced, however, that neither individual discipline, nor the state of discipline or morale in the Navy, nor any other interest requires further legal proceedings with respect to any personnel involved in the Pueblo incident."

The full six-day schedule (May 8-13) calls for meetings with county Democratic leaders and other interested Democrats from every county in the U. P. Meetings also are scheduled in Manistique, St. Ignace, Sault Ste. Marie, Newberry, Munising, Stephenson, Iron Mountain, Marquette, L'Anse, Houghton, Ontonagon, Ironwood and Iron River.

Joining the group at various stops will be Associate National Committeeman Neil Staebler, National Committeewoman Mrs. Mildred Jeffrey, Vice Chairman Mrs. Patti Knox and Recording Secretary Mrs. Libby Maynard.

"The format of our meetings will vary with local circumstances," said McNeely. "We want to discuss any particular problems local Democratic organizations are having, and work with them to develop solutions to those problems."

"We think it is vital that we get going now on the organizational work which must be done if we're to carry Michigan and the Upper Peninsula for the Democratic Party in 1970."

Kiwanis Honors Officer Johnson

Commemorating Law Day USA, the Escanaba Kiwanis Club had as guests on Monday, District Judge Dean Shipman, Sheriff Harold Finman, Captain Richard Lundin and Patrolman Laurence Johnson of the Escanaba Police Department.

In special recognition, Officer Johnson received the Kiwanis Distinguished Service Award for saving the life of a possible drowning victim just one year ago Monday.

In presenting the award, past-president William Hemes read Officer Johnson's police report, and then commended him for his valor. Officer Johnson was given a standing ovation from the Kiwanians.

Judge Shipman, in his address, likened the newly established Law Day, to the former expressions of patriotism that were always prevalent on Fourth of July celebrations. Law Day, which is just 12 years old, is America's counteraction to the Communistic government's May Day celebrations.

Judge Shipman's main topic was citizen participation in the probation system, and he threw out a challenge to the Kiwanis Club, as well as the other service clubs, and civic minded citizens everywhere, to stand up and be counted on in this very serious matter.

People are relying too heavily on law enforcement agencies and not doing anything on their own to help, Judge Shipman said. Citizen participation will entail service without pay, and much personal inconvenience, but it will help the person who gets into trouble, probably in order to achieve status or identity, but who isn't really bad.

Meetings have been scheduled in mid-May, and Judge Shipman said that he has invited people who he feels would be interested to attend.

Volunteer probation workers can help the courts by presenting investigations to find out the background of the case, and otherwise help the Judge.

Employment counseling is also a great way for citizens to lend a hand, as is the professional assistance that the courts can receive from interested professional people.

In other action, Pat Henderson, Kiwanis coordinator of the Key Club at the Holy Name High School, introduced Dan Snow, outgoing president. Snow thanked the Kiwanis club for its support throughout the year and asked that it be continued.

He then introduced the officers for the coming year: Joe Pete, president, Bom McGinn, vice president, Steve Kleiman, secretary, and Jan Juetten, treasurer.

GM Strike Affects 60,100

DETROIT (AP) — Two unrelated strikes against General Motors continued today to keep 60,100 workers off the job or on reduced time as the company operates at only two-thirds of production capacity. Some 36,100 United Auto Workers are on strike at six GM Assembly Division plants and at Chevrolet Division and Fisher Body plants in St. Louis. Parts shortages generated by the strike have caused about 24,000 workers to be either laid off or put on short work weeks. Assembly Division workers struck April 28 because the UAW had not reached agreement with management on consolidation of Chevrolet Assembly and Fisher Body plants.

The unrelated St. Louis strike is over work standards. The company estimates that 37,015 cars less than planned production were turned out last month because of the strikes.

Soviets Score At Husain Wake

NEW DELHI (AP) — In the opinion of many knowledgeable Indians, Russian Premier Alexei Kosygin scored a diplomatic victory over the United States by attending the funeral Monday of Indian President Zakir Husain. Indian officials are privately disappointed and mildly offended by President Nixon's decision to send a relatively low-ranking delegation led by Housing Secretary George Romney. They point out that when former President Dwight D. Eisenhower died, India sent its deputy prime minister, Morarji Desai, to the funeral. The Indian government delayed Husain's funeral by 48 hours to allow nations of the world time to compose their delegations. The Soviet government announced Kosygin would come only after the American delegation was in the air enroute to New Delhi.

While Kosygin was met at the airport by Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, Romney and ambassador-designate Kenneth Keating were greeted by Housing Minister K. K. Shah, an influential member of Mrs. Gandhi's Cabinet.

Kosygin's visit comes at a time when Indian-Russian relations are at a low level or cordiality because of the Soviet Union's decision to sell arms to Pakistan.

GM Strike Affects 60,100

DETROIT (AP) — Two unrelated strikes against General Motors continued today to keep 60,100 workers off the job or on reduced time as the company operates at only two-thirds of production capacity.

Some 36,100 United Auto Workers are on strike at six GM Assembly Division plants and at Chevrolet Division and Fisher Body plants in St. Louis.

Parts shortages generated by the strike have caused about 24,000 workers to be either laid off or put on short work weeks.

Assembly Division workers struck April 28 because the UAW had not reached agreement with management on consolidation of Chevrolet Assembly and Fisher Body plants.

The unrelated St. Louis strike is over work standards.

The company estimates that 37,015 cars less than planned production were turned out last month because of the strikes.

Soviets Score At Husain Wake

NEW DELHI (AP) — In the opinion of many knowledgeable Indians, Russian Premier Alexei Kosygin scored a diplomatic victory over the United States by attending the funeral Monday of Indian President Zakir Husain.

Indian officials are privately disappointed and mildly offended by President Nixon's decision to send a relatively low-ranking delegate led by Housing Secretary George Romney.

They point out that when former President Dwight D. Eisenhower died, India sent its deputy prime minister, Morarji Desai, to the funeral.

The Indian government delayed Husain's funeral by 48 hours to allow nations of the world time to compose their delegations.

The Soviet government announced Kosygin would come only after the American delegation was in the air enroute to New Delhi.

While Kosygin was met at the airport by Prime Minister Indira Gandhi, Romney and ambassador-designate Kenneth Keating were greeted by Housing Minister K. K. Shah, an influential member of Mrs. Gandhi's Cabinet.

Kosygin's visit comes at a time when Indian-Russian relations are at a low level or cordiality because of the Soviet Union's decision to sell arms to Pakistan.

Excuse To Demonstrate

(Editor's Note: A group of student demonstrators at Central Michigan University held a rally April 28 to protest CMU's voluntary ROTC program. Mt. Pleasant Daily Times-News Editor Clair M. Hekhuis looked for deep reasons behind the protest rally. In the following editorial, Hekhuis examines national concern about major issues, campus power struggles and university-community relationships.)

Campus debate about whether the Reserve Officer Training Corps program should remain at Central Michigan University is continuing. Doubtless, the ROTC will remain a topic of debate until another issue comes along.

The fact that ROTC training is voluntary at CMU takes most of the bite out of the issue. As a matter of fact, ROTC is not the basic issue, so let's stop pretending.

Some of the major issues simmering at CMU, issues which surfaced in an anti-ROTC rally, are:

Distrust and resentment of the military-industrial complex, an alliance about which President Eisenhower warned when he left office some years ago. Hardly new and not limited to the academic community, this issue has aroused national concern.

A struggle for political recognition and the desire for "political clout" by some students and faculty members.

A struggle for control of the shape and direction of Central Michigan University, with some students and faculty demanding complete control and expressing distaste for "outsiders."

Growing opposition to the Vietnam War, an issue neither invented by nor solely owned by students and professors.

This is entirely too much freight to dump on the fragile issue of voluntary ROTC, and the rally organizers know it.

The protesters found and exploited one chilling link between the ROTC program and the Vietnam War. Literature distributed at the rally contended that "ROTC supplies 70 per cent of the junior grade officers in the Army, thus, the abolition of ROTC would make it more difficult to continue the Vietnam War or initiate similar wars. Suppose our campaign succeeded, and we abolished ROTC on every campus in the U. S. Clearly the defense capacity of this country, strictly defined — its security against invasion and nuclear strike — would not have been impaired, but a significant blow would have been struck against the Vietnam war."

The leaders of "our campaign" were not identified. The literature, unsigned and unattributed, also urged students and faculty to "organize for political struggle."

A great to-do has been made in recent months about academic freedom, freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, and freedom to dissent and disagree at CMU. From what we have seen and heard recently, such freedom exists at CMU. The point is no longer worth belaboring.

The major issues are clear. So let's debate them. Voluntary ROTC is not a debate, it's an excuse to demonstrate. It's a handle for one or more groups to grab in a bid for recognition. Shadowy, back-door tactics by students for a Democratic Society or any other group seeking political recognition are distasteful, ill-advised, and ill-conceived.

There was some other mimeographed business at the rally concerning "outside guests" on the campus. A statement was distributed that "According to the Mt. Pleasant Daily Times-News a group of outsiders from various veterans' organizations is coming to our university to attend our rally. We welcome them to participate in this free and open forum, but we students should not be misled: the decision to abolish ROTC from this campus must be made by this campus. Could it be that some will be intimidated by the presence of our outside guests? Dean Pike assures us that their intentions are peaceful. Nevertheless, we must never allow any pressure group to inhibit our right to think and speak, regardless of whether that group is from off campus or on campus."

Let's get one thing straight. Central Michigan University is not the sole preserve or playground of any one group. It was founded, built, financed, and is maintained to serve the residents of Michigan. Furthermore, whatever attempts were made at intimidation in connection with the rally, and there were some, were not made by the "outside guests" to whom the statement referred.

We had thought that the relationships between Central and Mt. Pleasant were on the mend. But statements about "outsiders on our campus" serve only to drive a wedge between Mt. Pleasant and the University.

We have no doubt that Central will continue to grow and that its services will be strengthened and extended in the best interests of the public it serves.

But shallow thinking and selfish motives will not make it so.

Another thought which found its way into print was that "The universities are, indeed, 'key institutions' for shaping the future. But right now the control over how the future is shaped lies with the administration and outside the university. Students and faculty must take possession of their own campuses in the struggle to alter the service to which intellect is put."

Take possession, indeed. Perhaps we should not take such comments seriously. Perhaps we should simply ignore the whole business and go on to other things. On the other hand, if this is meant to be some kind of challenge, it might be appropriate to paraphrase Winston Churchill who once said "This is the kind of nonsense up with which we will not put."

Balance Of Power Holds Key To ABM

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

WASHINGTON, D.C.—President Nixon, according to some of his conservative supporters, has mishandled the care and feeding of his Anti-Ballistic Missile cause in the U.S. Senate. But the President, who doesn't like to twist arms, is counting on certain facts to carry him through to a fast finish.

First of all, there is the weight of the intelligence reports: on March 20 Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard told the Senate Armed Services Committee that the Soviets have already reached parity with us in missile strength. The larger Soviet missiles, said Packard, "became operational in 1966." These are the missiles "on which the Soviets have flown multiple warheads . . . This force potentially represents a severe threat to our Minuteman."

The rate of progress in Soviet missile deployment was badly underestimated by the Johnson Administration. Production of the Soviet SS-9 missiles and nuclear submarines, so Nixon has divulged, is 60 per cent greater than was estimated in 1967 when the decision was first made to deploy a Sentinel ABM system. Added to all this, the Soviets have what amounts to an Orbital Bombardment System. Properly deployed, 100 "fractional" orbital bombs, launched into real orbit, could be in a position to attack the U.S. in a matter of seconds after a button had been pushed in Moscow. Without some protection for a retaliatory strike, the U.S. at some time in the 1970s, could be subjected to intolerable blackmail by the Kremlin.

The theory that a decision to go ahead with an ABM might hurt our chances for negotiating an arms limitation deal with the Soviets just doesn't stand inspection. It was the Soviet's Premier Kossygin who said, at a London press conference in 1967, that "defensive systems which prevent attack are not the cause of the arms race, but constitute a factor preventing the death of people."

Some argue like this: what is cheaper, to have offensive weapons which can destroy towns and whole states or to have defensive weapons which can prevent this destruction. At present, the theory is current somewhere that the system which is cheaper should be developed. Such so-called theoreticians argue as to the cost of killing a man—$500,000 or

$100,000. Maybe an anti-missile system is more expensive than an offensive system, but it is designed not to kill people but to preserve human lives."

Since this is the Soviet argument, there is no reason Moscow should be miffed if we turn as humanitarian about saving lives as Premier Kossygin himself.

In any event, the Russians do what they want to do whether they are busy "negotiating" or not. After the Cuban missile crisis the argument was heard in Washington that Moscow, having had one unpleasant experience with eye-ball-to-eye-ball nuclear confrontation, was ready to cut back on dependence on the atomic race. There were confident predictions that the Kremlin would turn its attention to satisfying the Soviet consumer. The Russians, so the post-Cuban theory went, were realists who were ready in the interest of their own standard of living to repudiate the revolutionary jazz about promoting guerrilla Marxism throughout the colonial world. They were too concerned about peace in eastern Europe and about facing the Red Chinese along 4,000 miles of border in inner Asia. So the fashionable arguments went.

What actually happened, however, is that the Soviets have paid very little attention to the consumer economy. The U.S. has twice the Gross National Product of the USSR. But the Soviets, with their relatively scarce resources, have nevertheless continued with their missile development. Their generals now boast that they "hold Europe as a hostage" with their medium-range ballistic missiles. They have very large 100-megaton weapons, thoroughly tested in 1961-62, that are ready for long-distance delivery. And they have the Griffin, the Galosh, and the Tallin anti-ballistic missile defense system which they confidently think gives them effective protection against a strike from the U.S.

By comparison with the Russians, the U.S. is like a medieval knight armed only with a sword. Our Soviet opponent not only has a sword but a shield, a helmet and an iron breastplate. Since our own Spartan and Sprint anti-ballistic missiles have been successfully flown, where is the responsible Senator who would deny a suit of armor to the U.S. knight?

PAY TELEVISION

Your recent editorial on "TV Scare Theaters" seemed to be so intent on stressing the motion picture industry's "dilemma," that several points are either misleading or missing.

First of all, I think the motion picture industry should be complimented for attempting to alert the public that pay TV is coming in the back door to replace free TV. Actually, few if any people in Escanaba are aware of the FCC (Federal Communications Commission) ruling that would authorize pay TV June 12, providing the public does nothing about it; and since the FCC and the multi-millionaires behind Zenith, Telemeter and the promoters of pay TV are keeping their ruling quiet, the public will know nothing about it, and consequently be able to do nothing about it. If this authorization were to come to a popular vote, such as it has in California, it no doubt would be defeated by a tremendous majority, as was done in California.

There is no possible way free TV and pay TV can live together, for the producer or star of a show, management of a baseball or a football team, etc., are still going to go to the medium that pays them the most money. In that category free TV can't begin to compete with pay TV; so it will be only a matter of time before we pay for everything that we now get free.

Since only about 15 per cent of the people see a motion picture, and 55 per cent view TV, I think you should do your TV viewers a service and fill them in on pay TV, but only after reading the 150-page FCC ruling. In the meantime, refrain from making ridiculous statements like "a household will be able to see movies for $1.50 instead of $8 to $10."

Could it be that newspapers are for pay TV, because they would reap the advertising rewards denied pay TV?

CRIME COMMITTEE

The House of Representatives last week passed what will certainly become landmark legislation in terms of its own organization. With little fanfare or publicity the House voted overwhelmingly (343-17) to create a select committee from within its ranks to study all aspects of crime in the United States.

Just what will a committee on crime do? There is no denying that the high rate of crime constitutes one of the most serious threats to the security and stability of the nation. And yet, we seem to know little about it. Policemen say that the courts are too lenient; sociologists claim that the crime rate is the result of impoverished environment; and legislators and politicians say that we must "get tough." All of these attitudes contain at least part of the answer, but probably none is absolutely correct. The one thing everyone agrees upon is the need to do something about crime.

The FBI reports that in 1967

a serious crime was committed every eight seconds and that more than 10,000 crimes, felonies, and misdemeanors were committed every day. The 1968 statistics are substantially higher. And these figures do not reflect many of the crimes committed by organized criminal elements.

There is no doubt that we have a very alarming crime problem, but we also have a crisis in crime control. The government is now willing to commit its financial resources to the problem with an annual budget of nearly $300 million for law enforcement assistance. However, no one has yet come up with a unified and effective crime control strategy. I submit that the creation of a Select Committee on Crime is the first step in organizing a master battle plan to combat this great menace to our society.

Contract Bridge

By B. JAY BECKER

Opening lead — jack of diamonds.

Timing is a very important factor in the play of many hands. When declarer has a number of different choices to perform, the order in which he does them is frequently crucial.

Examine this deal where West leads a diamond. How should South proceed? He can start by leading a trump, or by attempting a finesse in either clubs or spades.

Suppose he starts by leading a trump, as many players would do. West takes the ace and plays another diamond. Eventually South goes down one, losing a trick in each suit, because the spade and club finesses both fail when attempted.

True, the result is unlucky, but it is also traceable to a wrong choice of plays. Declarer should not rely on the probability of one of the finesses succeeding when he has a far more promising method of play available.

South should take the view that there are more urgent matters to attend to than tackling the trumps, since this can be done just as well later on. A premature trump lead gives the defense the timing to establish a diamond trick.

Instead South should win the diamond lead with the king and play the A-10 of spades. He deliberately abandons the spade finesse in order to first establish a spade trick in dummy on which to discard a diamond.

If South plays in this fashion, he winds up losing a spade, a heart and a club, and makes the contract. West can win with the spade king and return a diamond, but dummy takes the ace and cashes the queen of spades for the vital diamond discard.

By attacking spades first, South wins the critical race against time. He establishes a spade before the defense can establish a diamond. If declarer attacks either trumps or clubs at trick two, he loses an important tempo and must eventually go down one against proper defense.

Ann Landers

Guys Over 40 Give Girl A Rough Time

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been reading your column for years and feel we owe you something for all the pleasure you've given us. Can you use an effective answer for married couples when insensitive clods ask why they don't have any children?

Yesterday, after six years of being needed, pestered and put through the third degree by nosy friends, stupid relatives and total strangers, the town meddler came up to my husband at our anniversary cocktail party and asked, "How does it happen that your two brothers have such lovely families and you haven't got a thing to show for six years of marriage?"

My husband looked the old biddy in the eye and bellowed in a voice that could be heard across the room, "I'm sterile." Her jaw dropped six inches and her glasses fell off. I thought he'd die laughing. Use it if you like.—Pie Face And Pussycat

Dear P and P: Thanks for the jaw-dropper. Mine dropped too.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 16-year-old girl who is nice-looking but far from beautiful. I am not anybody's idea of a sex bomb and can't figure out why all this seems to be happening to me.

I went to the hairdresser's Friday and when I put on my coat, the hairdresser followed me to the back closet, pushed me behind the curtain and started to get fresh. I told him off and left.

Yesterday I went to the dentist to get my teeth cleaned. When he snapped the chin towel around my neck his hand "accidentally" dropped inside my dress. I gave him a dirty look and he said, "Oh, excuse me."

This morning, the tailor who was shortening my coat measured me around the hips for five minutes. Finally I told him he wasn't making a bathing suit and to knock it off.

We keep reading about how wild the teen-agers are. These men are all over 40. What's the answer?—Disgusted

Dear Disgusted: Never trust anyone over 39.

Dear Ann Landers: Several weeks ago you said prolonged mourning is unhealthy, that it serves no useful purpose. You called it "self-pity turned inside out."

My brother's widow used your words as her defense when we (my two sisters and I) told her straight to her face we thought it was an insult to the family that she was going to the theater, and dining with a man less than six months after her husband passed away.

Usually you give such good advice, we can't imagine your condoning such irreverent behavior of a young widow. On occasion you have been big enough to admit you were wrong. Will you do so again?—R. L. and C.

Dear R. L. and C.: I'm sure I shall—but not in this instance. I firmly believe that each person must decide for himself how long he wants to mourn. And whatever the decision, it need not be explained nor defended.

If you have trouble getting along with your parents if you can't get them to let you live your own life, send for Ann Landers' booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How To Get More Freedom." Send 50c in coin with your request and a long, stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

Excuse To Demonstate

(Editor's Note: A group of student demonstrators at Central Michigan University held a rally April 28 to protest CMU's voluntary ROTC program. Mt. Pleasant Daily Times-News Editor Clair M. Hekhuis looked for deep reasons behind the protest rally. In the following editorial, Hekhuis examines national concern about major issues, campus power struggles and university-community relationships.)

Campus debate about whether the Reserve Officer Training Corps program should remain at Central Michigan University is continuing. Doubtless, the ROTC will remain a topic of debate until another issue comes along.

The fact that ROTC training is voluntary at CMU takes most of the bite out of the issue. As a matter of fact, ROTC is not the basic issue, so let's stop pretending.

Some of the major issues simmering at CMU, issues which surfaced in an anti-ROTC rally, are:

Disrespect and resentment of the military-industrial complex, an alliance about which President Eisenhower warned when he left office some years ago. Hardly new and not limited to the academic community, this issue has aroused national concern.

A struggle for political recognition and the desire for "political clout" by some students and faculty members.

A struggle for control of the shape and direction of Central Michigan University, with some students and faculty demanding complete control and expressing distaste for "outsiders."

Growing opposition to the Vietnam War, an issue neither invented by nor solely owned by students and professors.

This is entirely too much freight to dump on the fragile issue of voluntary ROTC, and the rally organizers know it.

The protesters found and exploited one chilling link between the ROTC program and the Vietnam War. Literature distributed at the rally contended that "ROTC supplies 70 per cent of the junior grade officers in the Army, thus, the abolition of ROTC would make it more difficult to continue the Vietnam War or initiate similar wars. Suppose our campaign succeeded, and we abolished ROTC on every campus in the U. S. Clearly the defense capacity of this country, strictly defined — its security against invasion and nuclear strike — would not have been impaired, but a significant blow would have been struck against the Vietnam war."

The leaders of "our campaign" were not identified. The literature, unsigned and unattributed, also urged students and faculty to "organize for political struggle."

A great to-do has been made in recent months about academic freedom, freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, and freedom to dissent and disagree at CMU. From what we have seen and heard recently, such freedom exists at CMU. The point is no longer worth belaboring.

The major issues are clear. So let's debate them. Voluntary ROTC is not a debate, it's an excuse to demonstrate. It's a handle for one or more groups to grab in a bid for recognition. Shadowy, back-door tactics by students for a Democratic Society or any other group seeking political recognition are distasteful, ill-advised, and ill-conceived.

There was some other mimeographed business at the rally concerning "outside guests" on the campus. A statement was distributed that "According to the Mt. Pleasant Daily Times-News a group of outsiders from various veterans' organizations is coming to our university to attend our rally. We welcome them to participate in this free and open forum, but we students should not be misled; the decision to abolish ROTC from this campus must be made by this campus. Could it be that some will be intimidated by the presence of our outside guests? Dean Pike assures us that their intentions are peaceful. Nevertheless, we must never allow any pressure group to inhibit our right to think and speak, regardless of whether that group is from off campus or on campus."

Let's get one thing straight. Central Michigan University is not the sole preserve or plaything of any one group. It was founded, built, financed, and is maintained to serve the residents of Michigan. Furthermore, whatever attempts were made at intimidation in connection with the rally, and there were some, were not made by the "outside guests" to whom the statement referred.

We had thought that the relationships between Central and Mt. Pleasant were on the mend. But statements about "outsiders on our campus" serve only to drive a wedge between Mt. Pleasant and the University.

We have no doubt that Central will continue to grow and that its services will be strengthened and extended in the best interests of the public it serves.

But shallow thinking and selfish motives will not make it so.

Another thought which found its way into print was that "The universities are, indeed, 'key institutions' for shaping the future. But right now the control over how the future is shaped lies with the administration and outside the university. Students and faculty must take possession of their own campuses in the struggle to alter the service to which intellect is put."

Take possession, indeed. Perhaps we should not take such comments seriously. Perhaps we should simply ignore the whole business and go on to other things. On the other hand, if this is meant to be some kind of challenge, it might be appropriate to paraphrase Winston Churchill who once said "This is the kind of nonsense up with which we will not put."

Balance Of Power Holds Key To ABM

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
WASHINGTON, D.C.—President Nixon, according to some of his conservative supporters, has manhandled the care and feeding of his Anti-Ballistic Missile cause in the U.S. Senate. But the President, who doesn't like to twist arms, is counting on certain facts to carry him through to a fast finish.

First of all, there is the weight of the intelligence reports: on March 20 Deputy Secretary of Defense David Packard told the Senate Armed Services Committee that the Soviets have already reached parity with us in missile strength. The larger Soviet missiles, said Packard, "became operational in 1966." These are the missiles "on which the Soviets have flown multiple warheads . . . This force potentially represents a severe threat to our Minuteman."

The rate of progress in Soviet missile deployment was badly underestimated by the Johnson Administration. Production of the Soviet SS-9 missiles and nuclear submarines, so Nixon has divulged, is 60 per cent greater than was estimated in 1967 when the decision was first made to deploy a Sentinel ABM system. Added to all this, the Soviets have what amounts to an Orbital Bombardment System. Properly deployed, 100 "fractional" orbital bombs, launched into real orbit, could be in a position to attack the U.S. in a matter of seconds after a button had been pushed in Moscow. Without some protection for a retaliatory strike, the U.S., at some time in the 1970s, could be subjected to intolerable blackmail by the Kremlin.

The theory that a decision to go ahead with an ABM might hurt our chances for negotiating an arms limitation deal with the Soviets just doesn't stand inspection. It was the Soviet's Premier Kosygin who said, at a London press conference in 1967, that "defensive systems which prevent attack are not the cause of the arms race, but constitute a factor preventing the death of people."

Some argue like this: what is cheaper, to have offensive weapons which can destroy towns and whole states or to have defensive weapons which can prevent this destruction. At present, the theory is current somewhere that the system which is cheaper should be developed. Such so-called theoreticians argue as to the cost of killing a man—$500,000 or

$100,000. Maybe an anti-missile system is more expensive than an offensive system, but it is designed not to kill people but to preserve human lives."

Since this is the Soviet argument, there is no reason Moscow should be miffed if we turn as humanitarian about saving lives as Premier Kosygin himself.

In any event, the Russians do what they want to do whether they are busy "negotiating" or not. After the Cuban missile crisis the argument was heard in Washington that Moscow, having had one unpleasant experience with eyeball-to-eyeball nuclear confrontation, was ready to cut back on dependence on the atomic race. There were confident predictions that the Kremlin would turn its attention to satisfying the Soviet consumer. The Russians, so the post-Cuban theory went, were realists who were ready in the interest of their own standard of living to repudiate the revolutionary jargon about promoting guerrilla Marxism throughout the colonial world. They were too concerned about peace in eastern Europe and about facing the Red Chinese along 4,000 miles of border in inner Asia. So the fashionable arguments went.

What actually happened, however, is that the Soviets have paid very little attention to the consumer economy. The U.S. has twice the Gross National Product of the USSR. But the Soviets, with their relatively scarce resources, have nevertheless continued with their missile development. Their generals now boast that they "hold Europe as a hostage" with their medium-range ballistic missiles. They have very large 100-megaton weapons, thoroughly tested in 1961-62, that are ready for long-distance delivery. And they have the Griffin, the Galosh, and the Tallin anti-ballistic missile defense system which they confidently think gives them effective protection against a strike from the U.S.

By comparison with the Russians, the U.S. is like a medieval knight armed only with a sword. Our Soviet opponent not only has a sword but a shield, a helmet and an iron breastplate. Since our own Spartan and Sprint anti-ballistic missiles have been successfully flown, where is the responsible Senator who would deny a suit of armor to the U.S. knight?

Letters To The Press

PAY TELEVISION

Your recent editorial on "TV Scare Theaters" seemed to be so intent on stressing the motion picture industry's "dilemma" that several points are either misleading or missing.

First of all, I think the motion picture industry should be complimented for attempting to alert the public that pay TV is coming in the back door to replace free TV. Actually, few if any people in Escanaba are aware of the FCC (Federal Communications Commission) ruling that would authorize pay TV June 12, providing the public does nothing about it; and since the FCC and the multi-millionaires behind Zenith, Telemeter and the promoters of pay TV are keeping their ruling quiet, the public will know nothing about it, and consequently be able to do nothing about it. If this authorization were to come to a popular vote, such as it has in California, it no doubt would be defeated by a tremendous majority, as was done in California.

There is no possible way free TV and pay TV can live together, for the producer or star of a show, management of a baseball or a football team, etc., are still going to go to the medium that pays them the most money. In that category free TV can't begin to compete with pay TV; so it will be only a matter of time before we pay for everything that we now get free. Since only about 15 per cent of the people see a motion picture, and 55 per cent view TV, I think you should do your TV viewers a service and fill them in on pay TV, but only after reading the 150-page FCC ruling. In the meantime, refrain from making ridiculous statements like "a household will be able to see movies for $1.50 instead of $8 to $10."

Could it be that newspapers are for pay TV, because they would reap the advertising rewards denied pay TV?

CRIME COMMITTEE

The House of Representatives last week passed what will certainly become landmark legislation in terms of its own organization. With little fanfare or publicity the House voted overwhelmingly (343-17) to create a select committee from within its ranks to study all aspects of crime in the United States.

Just what will a committee on crime do? There is no denying that the high rate of crime constitutes one of the most serious threats to the security and stability of the nation. And yet, we seem to know little about it. Policemen say that the courts are too lenient; sociologists claim that the crime rate is the result of impoverished environment; and legislators and politicians say that we must "get tough." All of these attitudes contain at least part of the answer, but probably none is absolutely correct. The one thing everyone agrees upon is the need to do something about crime.

a serious crime was committed every eight seconds and that more than 10,000 crimes, felonies, and misdemeanors were committed every day. The 1968 statistics are substantially higher. And these figures do not reflect many of the crimes committed by organized criminal elements.

There is no doubt that we have a very alarming crime problem, but we also have a crisis in crime control. The government is now willing to commit its financial resources to the problem with an annual budget of nearly $300 million for law enforcement assistance. However, no one has yet come up with a unified and effective crime control strategy. I submit that the creation of a Select Committee on Crime is the first step in organizing a master battle plan to combat this great menace to our society.

Contract Bridge

Opening lead — jack of diamonds.

Timing is a very important factor in the play of many hands. When declarer has a number of different chores to perform, the order in which he does them is frequently crucial.

Examine this deal where West leads a diamond. How should South proceed? He can start by leading a trump, or by attempting a finesse in either clubs or spades.

Suppose he starts by leading a trump, as many players would do. West takes the ace and plays another diamond. Eventually South goes down one, losing a trick in each suit, because the spade and club finesses both fail when attempted.

True, the result is unlucky, but it is also traceable to a wrong choice of plays. Declarer should not rely on the probability of one of the finesses succeeding when he has a far more promising method of play available.

South should take the view that there are more urgent matters to attend to than tackling the trumps, since this can be done just as well later on. A premature trump lead gives the defense the timing to establish a diamond trick.

Instead South should win the diamond lead with the king and play the A-10 of spades. He deliberately abandons the spade finesse in order to first establish a spade trick in dummy on which to discard a diamond.

If South plays in this fashion, he winds up losing a spade, a heart and a club, and makes the contract. West can win with the spade king and return a diamond, but dummy takes the ace and cashes the queen of spades for the vital diamond discard.

By attacking spades first, South wins the crucial race against time. He establishes a spade before the defense can establish a diamond. If declarer attacks either trumps or clubs at trick two, he loses an important tempo and must eventually go down one against proper defense.

Ann Landers

Guys Over 40 Give Girl A Rough Time

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been reading your column for years and feel we owe you something for all the pleasure you've given us. Can you use an effective answer for married couples when insensitive clods ask why they don't have any children?

Yesterday, after six years of being needed, pestered and put through the third degree by nosy friends, stupid relatives and total strangers, the town meddler came up to my husband at our anniversary cocktail party and asked, "How does it happen that your two brothers have such lovely families and you haven't got a thing to show for six years of marriage?"

My husband looked the old biddy in the eye and bellowed in a voice that could be heard across the room, "I'm sterile." Her jaw dropped six inches and her glasses fell off. I thought he'd die laughing. Use it if you like.—Pie Face And Pussycat

Dear P and P: Thanks for the jaw-dropper. Mine dropped too.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a 16-year-old girl who is nice-looking but far from beautiful. I am not anybody's idea of a sex bomb and can't figure out why all this seems to be happening to me.

I went to the hairdresser's Friday and when I put on my coat, the hairdresser followed me to the back closet, pushed me behind the curtain and started to get fresh. I told him off and left.

Yesterday I went to the dentist to get my teeth cleaned. When he snapped the chin towel around my neck his hand "accidentally" dropped inside my dress. I gave him a dirty look and he said, "Oh, excuse me."

This morning, the tailor who was shortening my coat measured me around the hips for five minutes. Finally I told him he wasn't making a bathing suit and to knock it off.

We keep reading about how wild the teen-agers are. These men are all over 40. What's the answer?—Disgusted

Dear Disgusted: Never trust anyone over 39.

Dear Ann Landers: Several weeks ago you said prolonged mourning is unhealthy, that it serves no useful purpose. You called it "self-pity turned inside out."

My brother's widow used your words as her defense when we (my two sisters and I) told her straight to her face we thought it was an insult to the family that she was going to the theater, and dining with a man less than six months after her husband passed away.

Usually you give such good advice, we can't imagine your condoning such irreverent behavior of a young widow. On occasion you have been big enough to admit you were wrong. Will you do so again?—R. L. and C.

Dear R. L. and C.: I'm sure I shall—but not in this instance. I firmly believe that each person must decide for himself how long he wants to mourn. And whatever the decision, it need not be explained nor defended.

Students Get 'Double Dip'

LANSING (AP) — The Senate Monday passed a resolution expressing its intent to eliminate a so-called "double dip" into college aid funds by students and to switch the order in which scholarship and tuition grants are awarded.

Action on the resolution, reported from the Senate Appropriations Committee Monday, provoked protest from some members who complained they had had no time to study its contents. The resolution passed 25-7 and was sent to the House.

Some students have been receiving grants under both the scholarship program and the tuition grant system, the resolution states. Such a practice, sponsors said, was contrary to the intent of the Legislature when the systems were set up.

No double grants now are being promised, but they have been in the past, said Sen. Robert VanderLaan, R-Grand Rapids. The resolution would specify legislative intent not to make double grants in the future, he said.

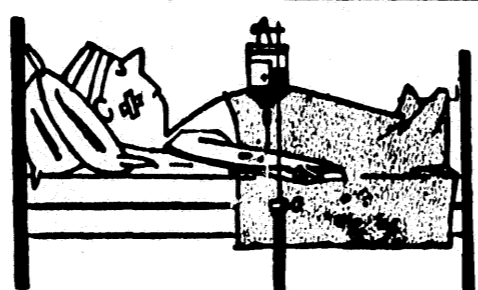

Under the current system, it was explained, tuition fund grants—for students who want to attend private colleges—are given first. Next come scholarship grants to students who may use the funds for either public or private schools.

VanderLaan pointed to figures showing that the number of students who use scholarship grants for private schools has decreased over the last three years.

"We want to reverse the trend," he said, adding that such a reversal could save the state money in funds expended on public institutions of higher education.

Awarding the larger scholarship grants first, he suggested, could boost the number of students who would use them to attend private schools.

Drummond Islanders Vote On Restoration

DRUMMOND ISLAND (AP) — "If the commission is approved by the voters," said Drummond Township Supervisor Eldon H. Seaman, "the $64 question facing the new commission is how to raise the $98,000 required to buy the property. This we must have before we can apply for state and federal funds for the restoration."

Fund Drive

"We believe our best bet is through a public fund subscription drive. To this end we have applied in advance to the Internal Revenue Service for a tax-exempt status for the commission. In this way, all contributions to the fort restoration fund may be deducted for income tax purposes. We hope to have a ruling on this soon."

"Fort Drummond was an important link in the chain of forts built in this area long ago to control the rich fur trade of the Lake Superior country," he said. These include Ft. de Buade at St. Ignace, Ft. Michilimackinac at Mackinaw City and later at Mackinac Island, Ft. Drummond, Ft. St. Joseph in the Canadian waters of the St. Marys River, and Ft. Repentigny and Ft. Brady at Sault Ste. Marie.

Many traces of the fort still exist on what is now called Barbed Point in the extreme southwestern part of Drummond Island. Several masonry chimneys still stand with a number of raised earthen gun mounds. A parade ground and barracks foundations may still be traced. The fort property passed into ownership several generations ago. Some parts of the fort grounds now contain private summer homes. But two parcels of old fort property containing 103 acres are now for sale at a cost of $98,000.

Drummond Islanders Vote On Restoration

DRUMMOND ISLAND (AP) — Voters in this northern Lake Huron island township went to the polls today in a special election to express a first decision in a proposed restoration of old Ft. Drummond, once the last British military outpost on U.S. soil.

Question on the ballot was whether to form a Drummond Township Park and Historical Commission of six members, which under State law would have the right to raise funds, apply for State and federal grants and let contracts for restoration work.

Old Ft. Drummond, also known as Ft. Collyer, was built in 1815 by British troops who were forced to surrender Mackinac Island by treaty after the war of 1812. In its time it housed a garrison and dependents of 400 persons in 18 buildings, and mounted 34 cannon to control traffic in strategic De Tour Passage. The fort was abandoned by the British in 1828 and the garrison moved to Georgian Bay in nearby Canada.

Players de Noc Sponsors 'Three For All' Saturday

Players de Noc will sponsor "Three For All," a collection of three diverse one-act plays performed by a group of young professional players from the University of Michigan at 8 p. m. Saturday in William W. Oliver auditorium.

Tickets for the program, which is made possible through a special grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts, are available at Gust Asp's. Players season ticket holders should use ticket stub five.

Variety is the key-note in "Three For All" as short plays by Peter Shaffer, August Strindberg, and Sean O'Casey are joined in a two-hour program.

In "The Private Ear," English dramatist Shaffer provides a look at the bitter-sweet romances of modern youth. What starts out to be a quiet dinner-date for two develops into a love triangle that is both happy and sad at the same time.

Irish-born playwright Sean O'Casey has provided dramatic literature with many masterpieces of realistic drama. Lesser known are his deliciously funny one-act plays. The climax of "Three For All" is O'Casey's "The End of the Beginning," which combines not only exaggerated characters and swift physical action, but also ridiculously funny dialogue and the wildest surprise ending to be seen on the stage in many years.

Sandwiched between these diverse styles of comedy is "Miss Julie" by the controversial Scandinavian dramatist August Strindberg, one of the giants of the theatre world.

"Miss Julie" not only details the strong love-hate relationship between its two central characters—the daughter of a Count and her father's valet—but tells of the bold social conflict between the upper and lower classes in late 19th century Europe.

The cast of "Three for All" includes Maureen Anderson, James Hosbein, Smith Lee McClure, and Linda and Jack McLaughlin. This company of young professional actors was selected by The University of Michigan Professional Theatre Program at nation-wide auditions. All have had extensive background with theatre organizations around the country and are currently graduate students in theatre at The University of Michigan.

Players de Noc Sponsors 'Three For All' Saturday

Players de Noc will sponsor "Three For All," a collection of three diverse one-act plays performed by a group of young professional players from the University of Michigan at 8 p.m. Saturday in William W. Oliver auditorium.

Tickets for the program, which is made possible through a special grant from the Michigan Council for the Arts, are available at Gust Asp's. Players' season ticket holders should use ticket stub five.

Variety is the key-note in "Three for All" as short plays by Peter Shaffer, August Strindberg, and Sean O'Casey are joined in a two-hour program.

In "The Private Ear," English dramatist Shaffer provides a look at the bitter-sweet romances of modern youth. What starts out to be a quiet dinner-date for two develops into a love triangle that is both happy and sad at the same time.

Irish-born playwright Sean O'Casey has provided dramatic literature with many masterpieces of realistic drama. Lesser known are his deliciously funny one-act plays. The climax of "Three for All" is O'Casey's "The End of the Beginning," which combines not only exaggerated characters and swift physical action, but also ridiculously funny dialogue and the wildest surprise ending to be seen on the stage in many years.

Sandwiched between these diverse styles of comedy is "Miss Julie" by the controversial Scandinavian dramatist August Strindberg, one of the giants of the theatre world.

"Miss Julie" not only details the strong love-hate relationship between its two central characters — the daughter of a Count and her father's valet — but tells of the bold social conflict between the upper and lower classes in late 19th century Europe.

The cast of "Three for All" includes Maureen Anderson, James Hosbein, Smith Lee McClure, and Linda and Jack McLaughlin. This company of young professional actors was selected by The University of Michigan Professional Theatre Program at nation-wide auditions. All have had extensive background with theatre organizations around the country and are currently graduate students in theatre at The University of Michigan.

Program To Help Poor Mothers Is Behind Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — An $8.8 million federal program aimed at improving diets for nearly a quarter-million impoverished mothers and children is far behind schedule and 50 percent below the target.

The program's intent is to supply a $7.00 package of nutrients—iron-enriched cereal, fruit juice, canned meat—each month to malnourished families.

But, after six months, the program has reached less than 100,000 of the target figure of 225,000 mothers and children.

However, the Nixon administration will continue to press the project which was initiated by the Johnson administration, along with other federal food programs, say Agriculture Department officials. The administration has asked for $15 million increase in the department's food program budget overall.

The problem centers on poor federal-local cooperation and little local awareness of what all department programs can and should do, spokesmen say. Without cooperation, little can be done, they add.

The Department hopes to cure some of the trouble with an educational campaign among labor unions, churches, business groups and universities.

Freeman said it is expected the department will make its original target for the special food packages sometime later this year. In 1970 the program is intended to reach a million mothers, infants and children up to the age of six years. The cost estimate for this level is $140 million a year.

"The enthusiasm is there," Freeman says. But it's only in places like the district (Washington, D.C.) which have some uncommitted resources available that makes it possible to get moving."

The program was limping along in Washington until mid-April when a Senate committee under Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., took to the city to probe hunger conditions.

Only 20,465 persons were receiving the special packages but the project was immediately expanded to include 45,000 after the investigation.

Rain Stalling Farm Work

LANSING (AP) — Farm field work, stalled somewhat last week by rainy weather, is running about five days behind normal and nine days later than a year ago, says the State Crop Reporting Service.

The Thumb area, which is experiencing the greatest field work delay, felt some frost damage to fruits and early vegetables last week, the service says.

Oat plantings, now about 45 percent complete, made good progress during the week, although this is some three weeks behind last year's schedule.

Planting of early potatoes is nearly one-fifth complete with some late potato plantings reported in the southeast.

Early sweet corn is starting to emerge and planting of tomatoes and cucumbers was underway with planting of onions, celery and green peas continuing.

Adventists Re-Elect Moon

BATTLE CREEK (AP)—Delegates from 161 Seventh-Day Adventist churches in Michigan, meeting Sunday at Battle Creek, reelected Robert Moon of Lansing as president of the Michigan Adventist Conference for a two-year term.

Leonard Wortzok of Okemos was elected treasurer. The work of secretary-treasurer was divided and John Hayward of Battle Creek was offered the post. He asked time for consideration before making a decision.

The 479 delegates were told 1,888 new members have been added to the church during the past two years to make the Michigan adult membership 18,942. Two new churches were established, at Stevensville and Carp Lake.

The Adventists reaffirmed their belief in separation of church and state and went on record as opposing any form of state aid to parochial schools.

Mills Doubts Increase In Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee said today he sees little chance of a Social Security benefit increase this year.

But the Arkansas Democrat indicated an increase is in the cards for 1970—probably at a higher figure than the Nixon administration's goal of a 7 percent boost. His committee has jurisdiction over Social Security legislation.

"I am not precluding entirely some action this year," Mills said, "but at this point I don't see how the committee can clear the other work before it and get to this issue."

In one of his last communications to Congress, President Lyndon B. Johnson proposed a 10 percent increase in Social Security benefits. However, Mills has questioned whether the financing provided in that proposal would cover the added cost without running the Social Security trust fund into the red—a contingency Congress has traditionally avoided.

Some studies made for the committee suggest that a 10 percent benefit increase next year might be financed without an increase in the tax rate beyond those already scheduled in the law. The base on which the tax is levied, however, probably would have to be enlarged.

The base is now $7,800 of salary and might be raised to $9,000 under these projections.

The tax rate is now 4.8 percent each on employer and employee. It is scheduled under present law to go to 5.2 percent in 1971, with additional increases later.

Perfect New Tuberculin Test

LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University researchers say they have produced a chemical substance which may improve tests for tuberculosis.

Led by a husband and wife team of MSU professors, Walter L. and Virginia Malmann, the group has developed a "sensitive" from tuberculosis bacteria which can detect the disease in infected guinea pigs or rabbits.

With refinement, the compound hopefully can be substituted for the present tuberculin test in humans and cattle, which occasionally produces a reaction from other bacteria and must be backed up by x-rays and sputum tests.

The new "sensitive," hopefully would be able to distinguish between bovine and human tuberculosis.

The 10-year study by the Malmanns has been financed in part by the U.S. Agriculture Department.

2,000 Teachers Not Rehired

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Education Association (MEA) said Monday that more than 2,000 probationary teachers in 43 districts across the state have been notified they will not be rehired next year.

The MEA based its finding on a survey of about 400 of the state's 530 school districts.

The teachers were notified last month by their local districts under provisions of the State Tenure Law, which requires school boards to give notice to teachers who may not be rehired at least 60 days before the end of the current school term.

But the notices do not mean a teacher definitely will not be rehired, according to MEA negotiator Kai Erickson.

If districts come up with additional funds through increased state aid or millage elections, many of the teachers will be rehired.

Erickson said the fund situation in most districts is so critical that many boards will not know until next August how many teachers they will be able to afford.

The name National Guard was first used in 1824 when the New York militia, 7th Regiment, acted as honor guard for Marquis de Lafayette's visit to the United States. By 1896 most states had adopted the name.

Program To Help Poor Mothers Is Behind Schedule

WASHINGTON (AP) — An $8.8 million federal program aimed at improving diets for nearly a quarter-million impoverished mothers and children is far behind schedule and 50 percent below the target.

The program's intent is to supply a $7.00 package of nutrients—iron-enriched cereal, fruit juice, canned meat—each month to malnourished families.

But, after six months, the program has reached less than 100,000 of the target figure of 225,000 mothers and children.

However, the Nixon administration will continue to press the project which was initiated by the Johnson administration, along with other federal food programs, say Agriculture Department officials. The administration has asked for $15 million increase in the department's food program budget overall.

The problem centers on poor federal-local cooperation and little local awareness of what all department programs can and should do, spokesmen say. Without cooperation, little can be done, they add.

The Department hopes to cure some of the trouble with an educational campaign among labor unions, churches, business groups and universities.

Freeman said it is expected the department will make its original target for the special food packages sometime later this year. In 1970 the program is intended to reach a million mothers, infants and children up to the age of six years. The cost estimate for this level is $140 million a year.

"The enthusiasm is there," Freeman says. But it's only in places like the district (Washington, D.C.) which have some uncommitted resources available that makes it possible to get moving."

The program was limping along in Washington until mid-April when a Senate committee under Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., took to the city to probe hunger conditions.

Only 20,465 persons were receiving the special packages but the project was immediately expanded to include 45,000 after the investigation.

Rain Stalling Farm Work

LANSING (AP) — Farm field work, stalled somewhat last week by rainy weather, is running about five days behind normal and nine days later than a year ago, says the State Crop Reporting Service.

The Thumb area, which is experiencing the greatest field work delay, felt some frost damage to fruits and early vegetables last week, the service says.

Out plantings, now about 45 percent complete, made good progress during the week, although this is some three weeks behind last year's schedule.

Planting of early potatoes is nearly one-fifth complete with some late potato plantings reported in the southeast.

Early sweet corn is starting to emerge and planting of tomatoes and cucumbers was underway with planting of onions, celery and green peas continuing.

Adventists Re-Elect Moon

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — Delegates from 161 Seventh-Day Adventist churches in Michigan, meeting Sunday at Battle Creek, reelected Robert Moon of Lansing as president of the Michigan Adventist Conference for a two-year term.

Leonard Wortzok of Okemos was elected treasurer. The work of secretary-treasurer was divided and John Hayward of Battle Creek was offered the new post. He asked time for consideration before making a decision.

The 479 delegates were told 1,888 new members have been added to the church during the past two years to make the Michigan adult membership 18,942. Two new churches were established at Stevensville and Carp Lake.

The Adventists reaffirmed their belief in separation of church and state and went on record as opposing any form of state aid to parochial schools.

Mills Doubts Increase In Social Security

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chairman Wilbur D. Mills of the House Ways and Means Committee said today he sees little chance of a Social Security benefit increase this year.

But the Arkansas Democrat indicated an increase is in the cards for 1970—probably at a higher figure than the Nixon administration's goal of a 7 percent boost. His committee has jurisdiction over Social Security legislation.

"I am not precluding entirely some action this year," Mills said, "but at this point I don't see how the committee can clear the other work before it and get to this issue."

In one of his last communications to Congress, President Lyndon B. Johnson proposed a 10 percent increase in Social Security benefits. However, Mills has questioned whether the financing provided in that proposal would cover the added cost without running the Social Security trust fund into the red—a contingency Congress has traditionally avoided.

Some studies made for the committee suggest that a 10 percent benefit increase next year might be financed without an increase in the tax rate beyond those already scheduled in the law. The base on which the tax is levied, however, probably would have to be enlarged.

The base is now $7,800 of salary and might be raised to $9,000 under these projections. The tax rate is now 4.8 percent each on employer and employee. It is scheduled under present law to go to 5.2 percent in 1971, with additional increases later.

Perfect New Tuberculin Test

LANSING (AP) — Michigan State University researchers say they have produced a chemical substance which may improve tests for tuberculosis.

Led by a husband and wife team of MSU professors, Walter L. and Virginia Mallmann, the group has developed a "sensit" from tuberculosis bacteria which can detect the disease in infected guinea pigs or rabbits.

With refinement, the compound hopefully can be substituted for the present tuberculin test in humans and cattle, which occasionally produces a reaction from other bacteria and must be backed up by x-rays and sputum tests.

The new "sensit," hopefully would be able to distinguish between bovine and human tuberculosis.

The 10-year study by the Mallmanns has been financed in part by the U.S. Agriculture Department.

2,000 Teachers Not Rehired

DETROIT (AP) — The Michigan Education Association (MEA) said Monday that more than 2,000 probationary teachers in 43 districts across the state have been notified they will not be rehired next year.

The MEA based its finding on a survey of about 400 of the state's 530 school districts.

The teachers were notified last month by their local districts under provisions of the State Tenure Law, which requires school boards to give notice to teachers who may not be rehired at least 60 days before the end of the current school term.

But the notices do not mean a teacher definitely will not be rehired, according to MEA negotiator Kai Erickson.

If districts come up with additional funds through increased state aid or millage elections, many of the teachers will be rehired.

Erickson said the fund situation in most districts is so critical that many boards will not know until next August how many teachers they will be able to afford.

The name National Guard was first used in 1824 when the New York militia, 7th Regiment, acted as honor guard for Marquis de Lafayette's visit to the United States. By 1896 most states had adopted the name.

Pickets Block C&H Operations

CALUMET—Shutdown operations at three mills of the Calumet division of the Universal Oil Products Co. here were halted by striking miners Monday.

The miners formed picket lines in front of three mills in the Hubbell and Calumet areas to prevent supervisory personnel from entering.

At least 100 pickets blocked the entrance to the Ahmeek mill in Hubbell. Pickets also massed in front of two mills in Calumet, preventing their operation.

The mass picketing came Monday in the wake of the union's rejection of a mediator's proposal which was hoped would reopen negotiations and prevent shutdown of the mines.

Injunction Bid Rumored
Approximately 145 supervisors of the mining company were prohibited from entering the mills to crush ore that had been left there before the strike began Aug. 21.

Observers said only a threat of force was used on the supervisors to prevent them from entering.

Meanwhile, it was rumored that the company would seek a federal injunction to prevent miners from interfering with the operations.

Only personnel attempting to get into the mills were approached, observers said. Emergency men who manned pumps in the mines were not harassed by pickets, they said.

The membership of local

4312 of the United Steelworkers of America rejected the mediator's proposal in a standing vote. About 700 miners jammed the old Calumet theater to reject the proposal to increase their wages 55 cents per hour over two years.

The vote was regarded as crucial in that it would determine whether the mining operation in the once booming copper country would remain open.

Strike Strategy
Observers of the drawdown strike said some miners still believe the company was using threat of a shutdown as a strike strategy.

The proposal rejected Sunday was approximately 50 cents lower than a previous offer of the company. If approved, the proposal would still have had to be submitted to the mining firm.

The company terminated the employment status of the approximately 1,000 miners several weeks ago when it was indicated the firm would no longer operate.

Broken Family Greatest Cause Of Welfare Cases

By JEAN WORTH

Delta County's government study committee heard Lawrence Curran, director of the County Bureau of Social Services, tell of the changing problems and expense of welfare aid at the County Building Monday night and seemed impressed that:

1. The future, which the committee is attempting to forecast as a guide to the new county board of supervisors, holds forth no promise of a major reduction in need for welfare services.

Good People

2. The federal Social Security program started in 1935 is changing the "over the hills to the Poor House" route for the elderly, but in the years before age 65 there are many welfare problems and government — at the county, state and federal levels — has assumed responsibility for coping with them.

Airport Traffic Continues Gain

Escanaba's municipal airport, continuing its climb in passenger traffic into 1969, gained nearly 1,000 in volume in the first four months of the year, according to reports from City Manager George Harvey.

April's total this year was 2015, a gain of 392 over the 1623 figure for the same month a year ago, according to the figures received by the city manager from John Thorin, airport manager.

The gain by months so far this year:

January	1289	1381
February	1289	1460
March	1789	1509
April	2015	1623

Totals 6937 5973

A citizen committee headed by Claude Tobin is continuing its planning for the dedication of Escanaba's new airport facilities. The event will be held Aug. 2-3.

The completion of runway lengthening for jet plan service and the opening of a new terminal building will be major features of the celebration.

3. Welfare officers have a greater respect for the integrity, willingness to try, and honesty of persons who need welfare aid of various kinds than does the general public. No one, Curran believes, really wants to be on the welfare rolls.

4. A proportion of the general public which may surprise by its size is now getting some kind of aid from government because individuals or families cannot meet child support needs or medical care bills, etc. In April there were 1,273 cases of families (one or more persons) of Delta's 34,000 population getting some kind of welfare help: 329 on old age assistance, six aid to blind; 173 aid to disabled; 44 direct relief, 180 aid to dependent children; 481 on Medicaid; food distribution to 655 families including 2,024 individuals.

Plus Medicaid

(Spent on all Delta welfare clients in 1968 was a total of $984,275.86 by county, state and federal government, plus an amount not known by the Delta County Bureau of Social Welfare from state-federal funds on Medicaid. Blue Cross-Blue Shield contracts with the State Department of Social Welfare to handle Medicaid and county breakdowns of cost aren't readily available.)

5. The liberalization of welfare aid is an effort to reduce its stigma and make it more effectively rehabilitative. This seems bound to continue, confronting the state with the seeming paradox that as the public gets wealthier the costs of helping those who cannot pay their own way increase.

Changing Rules

Implementation of this policy has resulted in:

A. A start in the fall of acceptance of a welfare client's declaration of his financial situation "unless there is reason to believe" he is not being factual.

B. An end to the lien law which once levied on the estates of persons helped by welfare for the amounts spent upon them.

C. Allowances for housing to

Lake Michigan Yields Shark

MILWAUKEE — A 29-inch shark has been found in Lake Michigan by a pair of Milwaukee fishermen.

Gil Scharnek and Cal Lukaszewicz said they found the dead shark floating about two miles off the South Milwaukee shore while they were fishing for coho salmon.

The shark did not appear to have been dead long. It showed no injury except that an eye had been pecked out, apparently by a seagull.

Art Schroeder, state conservation warden in Milwaukee county, said he was at a loss to explain how the shark got into the lake—dead or alive. Gerald Ludwig, ecologist for the Milwaukee Public Museum, confirmed that the fish was a shark after examining a photo. He said he hoped to make a personal inspection of the shark.

Scharnek said he took the fish home and put it in his freezer. He later agreed to thaw it out for pictures.

"The fish is not a dogfish shark — the species commonly used in biology classes — Ludwig said. Closer examination is necessary to determine more. About 20 families of sharks live in the world's waters — including some which enter freshwater rivers in the tropics and one species which is landlocked in freshwater in Central America.

Lake Michigan's present temperature — about 42 degrees — is not any colder than a shark would be accustomed to in the sea, Ludwig noted.

"But if it was living in Lake Michigan it would be the first such recorded," he said.

Delta Queen Choice Up To Five Judges

Five prominent judges have been selected from varied fields of interest to serve on a panel to select the new Miss Delta County on May 17.

They will score the points which will determine the winner as the young ladies compete in evening gown, swimsuit and talent divisions.

The personable girl selected Miss Delta County at the climax of the pageant to be staged in the Wm. W. Oliver Auditorium under the sponsorship of the Escanaba Area Jaycees will gain the right to continue a climb toward added honors in the Miss Michigan Pageant to be conducted the week of June 16 in Muskegon.

Serving on the five-member panel of judges will be Mr. and Mrs. William White of Ontonagon. White is an independent insurance agent in Ontonagon. He has judged a number of pageants in the Upper Peninsula and has assisted with the Miss Ontonagon County Pageant.

Mrs. White, a past Miss Ontonagon County, has directed and produced local Ontonagon pageants, has judged a number of Upper Peninsula pageants, and has been a chaperone to the Miss Michigan Pageant.

The third judge will be Mrs. Douglas Anderson of Iron Mountain. She is a home economics major and has modeled in the Iron Mountain-Kingsford area. She is the mother of three children.

The other two judges are Mr. and Mrs. Earl H. Longworth of Grayling. He is a retired vice-president of a mobile home manufacturing firm in Saginaw. At present he is executive manager of the Grayling Regional Chamber of Commerce. Longworth is also the chairman of the Crawford County Board of Supervisors, is on the board of directors of the Au Sable River Study Council, Trout Unlimited, and Grayling Regional Development Corporation.

Mrs. Longworth is a graduate of the Saginaw Business Institute and is a certified professional secretary, of which there are about approximately 4,100 throughout the world. She is a charter member of the National Secretaries Association, International.

She is active in community activities and has been pageant director of the Miss Michigan Winter Sports Pageant at Grayling for four years. During those four years, she has had two contestants in the top five, a first runner-up and a third runner-up to Miss Michigan. She is also on the board of directors of the Michigan Pageant Directors Association.

Mr. and Mrs. Longworth are the parents of three children, a son about to graduate from law school and a son and daughter who are in high school.

She has been a judge for many pageants throughout the state.

Mrs. John Greis is again serving as director of the Miss Delta County Pageant and Jim Davidson, vice-president of the Escanaba Area Jaycees, is the general chairman.

Reading Program Plans Advanced For June Opening

The Summer Reading program is moving into full swing in preparation for the June 23 opening, when 225 students from public and non-public schools will gather at the Lemmer and Webster Centers to receive six weeks of special reading instruction.

Students from the areas of Ford River, Pine Ridge, Soo Hill, Wells and Cornell will receive transportation, daily, to and from the reading centers. Students from those areas will attend the 10:30 to 12:30 session, each day, to allow bus drivers time to pick them up along the bus route.

Students from the city areas are expected to provide their own means of transportation to and from the centers, said Louis Diedrich, program director.

A complete speech therapy service will be added to the reading program this summer.

Superintendent Luther Barrett has hired speech therapists, Susan Diehm and Ann Vnette, who will set up speech correction services in each center. Reading students referred for speech will receive reading instruction during the same daily two-hour session through a special scheduling program.

Mrs. Lawrence Haack will be the nurse for the program and will coordinate health services for all students. Vision, hearing, and dental screening will be a part of the total health program. Students who do not pass the screening will be referred to doctors for appropriate care.

70 Workers Attend Kickoff Dinner:

Community Concert Drive Opens

The Delta County Community Concert Association launched its 1969-70 subscription campaign Monday night as about 70 workers turned out at the Dells to hear Catherine Lewer, New York representative of Community Concerts, discuss the coming series of concerts.

Others who spoke at the dinner program were Conrad D. Beck, Delta County president; Mrs. Dale Flynn and Mrs. Edward F. Hurley, campaign co-chairman, and Mrs. M. H. Gardner Jr., publicity chairman.

"In these trying times, try to imagine what it would be like if all music ended," said Miss Lewer. "It is not just a luxury or mere entertainment. Man has always turned to fine music in the most important hours of his existence and nothing can replace that person-to-person contact that characterizes that live group of professionals or individual artist performing on your William W. Oliver auditorium stage."

The Delta County membership campaign will last through Saturday noon. Payment of annual dues allows attendance at all concerts scheduled in the 1969-70 season.

First concert will be the Neil Wolfe Trio, consisting of piano, bass and percussion, scheduled Saturday, Sept. 27. Also contracted are Doris Yarik and Richard Cross, soprano and bass-baritone, and Dick Schory and his Percussion Pops Orchestra. A fourth attraction will be selected Saturday.

Pickets Block C&H Operations

CALUMET—Shutdown operations at three mills of the Calumet division of the Universal Oil Products Co. here were halted by striking miners Monday.

The miners formed picket lines in front of three mills in the Hubbell and Calumet areas to prevent supervisory personnel from entering.

At least 100 pickets blocked the entrance to the Alhbeck mill in Hubbell. Pickets also massed in front of two mills in Calumet, preventing their operation.

The mass picketing came Monday in the wake of the union's rejection of a mediator's proposal which was hoped would reopen negotiations and prevent shutdown of the mines.

Injunction Bid Rumored

Approximately 145 supervisors of the mining company were prohibited from entering the mills to crush ore that had been left there before the strike began Aug. 21.

Observers said only a threat of force was used on the supervisors to prevent them from entering.

Meanwhile, it was rumored that the company would seek a federal injunction to prevent miners from interfering with the operations.

Only personnel attempting to get into the mills were approached, observers said. Emergency men who manned pumps in the mines were not harassed by pickets, they said.

The membership of local

4312 of the United Steelworkers of America rejected the mediator's proposal in a standing vote. About 700 miners jammed the old Calumet theater to reject the proposal to increase their wages 55 cents per hour over two years.

The vote was regarded as crucial in that it would determine whether the mining operation in the once booming copper country would remain open.

Strike Strategy

Observers of the drawdown strike said some miners still believe the company was using threat of a shutdown as a strike strategy.

The proposal rejected Sunday was approximately 50 cents lower than a previous offer of the company. If approved, the proposal would still have had to be submitted to the mining firm.

The company terminated the employment status of the approximately 1,000 miners several weeks ago when it was indicated the firm would no longer operate.

Broken Family Greatest Cause Of Welfare Cases

By JEAN WORTH

Delta County's government study committee heard Lawrence Curran, director of the County Bureau of Social Services, tell of the changing problems and expense of welfare aid at the County Building Monday night and seemed impressed that:

1. The future, which the committee is attempting to forecast as a guide to the new county board of supervisors, holds forth no promise of a major reduction in need for welfare services.

Good People

The federal Social Security program started in 1935 is changing the "over the hills to the Poor House" route for the elderly, but in the years before age 65 there are many welfare problems and government — at the county, state and federal levels — has assumed responsibility for coping with them.

Airport Traffic Continues Gain

Escanaba's municipal airport, continuing its climb in passenger traffic into 1969, gained nearly 1,000 in volume in the first four months of the year, according to reports from City Manager George Harvey.

April's total this year was 2015, a gain of 392 over the 1623 figure for the same month a year ago, according to the figures received by the city manager from John Thorin, airport manager.

The gain by months so far this year:

January	1289	1381
February	1844	1460
March	1789	1509
April	2015	1623

Totals

6937 5973
A citizen committee headed by Claude Tobin is continuing its planning for the dedication of Escanaba's new airport facilities. The event will be held Aug. 2-3.

The completion of runway lengthening for jet plan service and the opening of a new terminal building will be major features of the celebration.

3. Welfare officers have a greater respect for the integrity, willingness to try, and honesty of persons who need welfare aid of various kinds than does the general public. No one, Curran believes, really wants to be on the welfare rolls.

4. A proportion of the general public which may surprise by its size is now getting some kind of aid from government because individuals or families cannot meet child support needs or medical care bills, etc. In April there were 1,273 cases of families (one or more persons) of Delta's 34,000 population getting some kind of welfare help; 329 on old age assistance, six aid to blind; 173 aid to disabled; 44 direct relief; 180 aid to dependent children; 481 on Medicaid; food distribution to 655 families including 2,024 individuals.

Plus Medicaid

(Spent on all Delta welfare clients in 1968 was a total of $984,275.86 by county, state and federal government, plus an amount not known by the Delta County Bureau of Social Welfare from state-federal funds on Medicaid. Blue Cross-Blue Shield contracts with the State Department of Social Welfare to handle Medicaid and county breakdowns of cost aren't readily available.)

5. The liberalization of welfare aid is an effort to reduce its stigma and make it more effectively rehabilitative. This seems bound to continue, confronting the state with the seeming paradox that as the public gets wealthier the costs of helping those who cannot pay their own way increases.

Changing Rules

Implementation of this policy has resulted in:

A. A start in the fall of acceptance of a welfare client's declaration of his financial situation "unless there is reason to believe" he is not being factual.
B. An end to the lien law which once levied on the estates of persons helped by welfare for the amounts spent upon them.
C. Allowances for housing to welfare clients that may include payments on their homes. (The reasoning: It's better to keep them in their homes and let them acquire ownership or an equity in it if it costs no more than to pay their rent somewhere else.)

D. Letting foster fathers in a marriage with a widow with children by a previous marriage declare himself unable to pay for their maintenance and thus make them eligible for aid to dependent children. (Providing a head for the family is a prime welfare goal.)

E. Making homestead ownership no bar to welfare eligibility.

Human Needs

6. Suggestion that the community should somehow give more effective backing to the welfare case worker, who may be the best friend that the welfare family has in the community. (A young mother-with children going being schooled under Bureau of Social Services sponsorship so enjoyed the companionship that they continued it after the end of instruction.)

7. The state, to get federal aid under the Social Security program which isn't available for its mental hospital patients, is sending them back to their home communities as they become eligible for civilian repatriation. The practice, although prompted partly by quest of federal financial aid, has a much greater justification, the study group agreed, in humane reasons.

When the study group members asked Curran what might be done by the board of supervisors to help make the welfare program more effective and more economical he cited the need for work with people with problems, and the inevitable cost of this work.

He indicated that the greatest single good could be done by reducing the number of broken homes. They are the greatest single cause of welfare problems.

Delta County budgeted $104,000 for its welfare program this year. Curran heads a staff of 21 which administers the program. They're all under state civil service and under direction of the Delta County Board of Social Services composed of Atty. William Anderson of Escanaba; Leslie Caswell of Rapid River and Edward Murphy of Gladstone.

Lake Michigan Yields Shark

MILWAUKEE — A 29-inch shark has been found in Lake Michigan by a pair of Milwaukee fishermen.

Gil Scharnek and Cal Lukasavitz said they found the dead shark floating about two miles off the South Milwaukee shore while they were fishing for coho salmon.

The shark did not appear to have been dead long. It showed no injury except that an eye had been pecked out, apparently by a seagull.

Art Schroeder, state conservation warden in Milwaukee county, said he was at a loss to explain how the shark got into the lake—dead or alive. Gerald Ludwig, ecologist for the Milwaukee Public Museum, confirmed that the fish was a shark after examining a photo. He said he hoped to make a personal inspection of the shark.

Scharnek said he took the fish home and put it in his freezer. He later agreed to thaw it out for pictures.

"The fish is not a dogfish shark — the species commonly used in biology classes — Ludwig said. Closer examination is necessary to determine more. About 20 families of sharks live in the world's waters — including some which enter freshwater rivers in the tropics and one species which is landlocked in freshwater in Central America.

Lake Michigan's present temperature — about 42 degrees — is not any colder than a shark would be accustomed to in the sea, Ludwig noted.

"But if it was living in Lake Michigan it would be the first such recorded," he said.

Many XYY Men Are Law-Abiding

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Perhaps 200,000 American males have the "XYY" genetic makeup that is being linked with impulses to commit violent crimes, a psychiatrist said today.

But "there is growing evidence that many XYY individuals are stable, law-abiding citizens," Dr. Gerald R. Clark of Elwyn, Pa., declared. "It appears that the XYY male in general has been falsely stigmatized."

Normally each body cell has 46 chromosomes, the carriers of genes that determine inherited characteristics. They receive an X chromosome from the mother, and a Y from the father. Occasionally, some accident adds an extra Y or X chromosome.

For several years there has been speculation that men with the XYY chromosome were genetically inclined toward aggressive criminal behavior. In courts, defense attorneys have argued that such men were not responsible for their crimes.

Richard Speck, convicted of murdering eight student nurses in Chicago, has the XYY chromosome.

Reporting new studies to the American Psychiatric Association in convention here, Dr. Clark said the frequency with which XYY men are involved in crime and other antisocial behavior "may not be appreciably different from the average citizen."

Dr. Clark is president of the Elwyn Institute, which began a study of the XYY chromosome in 1966. He is also associate professor of psychiatry and pediatrics at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School.

Commanding Officer Is Sued

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — An Air Force major who has been critical of the call-up of reserve troops for the Pueblo crisis Monday filed a $1 million slander suit against his commanding officer.

In a complaint filed in Macomb County Circuit Court, Maj. Giles Wanamaker claims that Lt. Col. John C. Riley, commander of the 305th Air Rescue and Recovery Squadron said:

"Major Wanamaker is a modern Benedict Arnold. Major Wanamaker is a traitor to his country."

Col. Riley declined comment on the suit.

Wanamaker charged that Riley made the statement last Dec. 24.

The Detroit Free Press carried a story reporting the criticism of the call-up by Wanamaker and other officers.

Robert Fulton of steamboat fame was born Nov. 14, 1765.

A.M. Bentley Awards Given To Gladstone, Hermansville Girls

OWOSSO — Annette Theoret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Theoret, Rte. 1, Gladstone, has been awarded an Alvin M. Bentley Foundation Scholarship Award for Excellence to Bay de Noc Community College for the academic year 1969-70 in the amount of $250.

Mary K. Poquette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Poquette, Hermansville, also will receive a Bentley Foundation Scholarship Award for Excellence to Bay de Noc Community College for the academic year 1969-70 in the amount of $250.

Scholarships were given this year to students who had graduated or were graduating from Michigan high schools who applied for the scholarships at the 62 Michigan institutions receiving the grants. Selection of the winners was made by the scholarship committees of the colleges and universities.

The Bentley Foundation is currently contributing $37,500 for scholarships for the academic year 1968-69. Its commitment for the school year will bring total contributions to nearly $517,000 for the eight years the foundation has been in operation.

Trustees of the foundation determine each year which Michigan institutions will benefit from the foundation's program "to administer funds for science, education and charitable projects." The institution itself determines who will receive the individual scholarships, which may amount up to a maximum of $500. In addition to the scholarship program, foundation trustees have also made grants in furtherance of the other objectives of the foundation.

Committee To Decide On Recreation Bills

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — State Sen. Gordon Rockwell, R-Mount Morris, predicted Monday there will be a "lot of haggling" before the controversial $100 million recreation bond issue is voted upon by the Legislature.

Rockwell is chairman of the Senate Conservation Committee which along with the House Conservation Committee, completed final hearing on the issue here Monday. Earlier hearings were conducted at Detroit, Traverse City and Escanaba.

The Senate and House conservation committees are scheduled to meet separately Wednesday to decide which of three bills to present to the Legislature. The deadline is Thursday.

Withdraw Support

During testimony here, James L. Rouman, executive director of the Michigan United Conservation Clubs, warned the group it never would support similar programs in the future if cities win a higher percentage than the 30 per cent proposed by conservation groups.

Rouman said that former Gov. George Romney "proposed a 70-30 division of the bond funds — $70 million for state projects and $30 million for local recreation projects."

The facts, he said, "leave no doubt whatever that the 70-30 split was what the voters were presented, what they approved and what they believed they were approving when they voted for it."

"If Michigan voters cannot trust their government to keep its pre-election promises," Rouman said, "then neither can that government expect voters to fall twice into the same trap."

Take More

"Urban needs cannot be met by rushing in funding on a stop-gap basis without looking at the entire picture," he said. "It is going to take much more than $30 million to meet the recreation needs of the cities."

Pirate Plane Off To Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — A gunman and a companion with a shiny knife have carried out the year's 25th airliner hijacking to Cuba.

The sky pirates stayed behind in Havana, but the other 66 passengers and the crew of seven returned to Miami early today after a four-hour stay on the Communist island.

A National Airlines spokesman said the two passengers who did not return identified themselves as "Mr. N. Marion" and Mr. J. Gagnon."

The plane was about 20 minutes from a Miami landing Monday night when the hijackers took charge. The gunman grabbed stewardess Nancee E. Nowicki.

"He just told me he wanted to go to Cuba and open the door to the cockpit or he'd kill me," Miss Nowicki said.

The gunman directed pilot Edward Hodgson to head for Havana. The crew was warned not to use the radio or plane intercom system.

The gunman stayed in the pilot's compartment and kept Miss Nowicki with him. The man with the knife stood outside facing the passengers.

Dr. Ilya Spigland of Mount Vernon, N.Y., a passenger with his wife and two children, said two Cuban soldiers in olive-green uniforms greeted the hijackers in Havana.

"They took the gun and knife and led them away," Spigland said.

ken's 30-30-40 proposal which would allocate 40 per cent to outstate areas and most of the remaining 60 per cent to urban areas.

"If we are to make our cities the living experience they should be for all citizens," Sonneveldt said, "It will take much more than we have been able to do. The 30-30-40 split based on population will make possible much recreational facilities which are not available."

He said "the greatest needs are in the populated areas and this, like all other programs, should be aimed where it would do the most good."

In Need

Brooks, while also endorsing Milliken's recreation proposal, said, "the Legislature should have contacted us earlier to see how they want this money split."

The City of Muskegon, he said, could utilize some of the funds to construct neighborhood centers and also improve its shoreline to attract tourists.

Arthur Heimer of Grand Rapids, United Auto Workers Union public relations director for the southwestern and northern sections of Michigan, was one of the few proponents to testify for an 80-20 split favored by Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh.

"When only limited funds are available and some people are badly in need," Heimer said, "we favor the 80-20 split." Heimer said, however, that he spoke for only UAW leadership.

Thirteen ships, authorized by the Continental Congress in 1775, constituted the nucleus of Uncle Sam's Navy.

Many XYY Men Are Law-Abiding

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — Perhaps 200,000 American males have the "XYY" genetic makeup that is being linked with impulses to commit violent crimes, a psychiatrist said today.

But "there is growing evidence that many XYY individuals are stable, law-abiding citizens," Dr. Gerald R. Clark of Elwyn, Pa., declared. "It appears that the XYY male in general has been falsely stigmatized."

Normally each body cell has 46 chromosomes, the carriers of genes that determine inherited characteristics. They receive an X chromosome from the mother, and a Y from the father. Occasionally, some accident adds an extra Y or X chromosome.

For several years there has been speculation that men with the XYY chromosome were genetically inclined toward aggressive criminal behavior. In courts, defense attorneys have argued that such men were not responsible for their crimes.

Richard Speck, convicted of murdering eight student nurses in Chicago, has the XYY chromosome.

Reporting new studies to the American Psychiatric Association in convention here, Dr. Clark said the frequency with which XYY men are involved in crime and other antisocial behavior "may not be appreciably different from the average citizen."

Dr. Clark is president of the Elwyn Institute, which began a study of the XYY chromosome in 1966. He is also associate professor of psychiatry and pediatrics at the University of Pennsylvania Medical School.

Commanding Officer Is Sued

MOUNT CLEMENS (AP) — An Air Force major who has been critical of the call-up of reserve troops for the Pueblo crisis Monday filed a $1 million slander suit against his commanding officer.

In a complaint filed in Macomb County Circuit Court, Maj. Giles Wanamaker claims that Lt. Col. John C. Riley, commander of the 305th Air Rescue and Recovery Squadron said:

"Major Wanamaker is a modern Benedict Arnold. Major Wanamaker is a traitor to his country."

Col. Riley declined comment on the suit.

Wanamaker charged that Riley made the statement last Dec. 24.

The Detroit Free Press carried a story reporting the criticism of the call-up by Wanamaker and other officers.

A.M. Bentley Awards Given To Gladstone, Hermansville Girls

OWOSSO — Annette Theoret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Theoret, Rte. 1, Gladstone, has been awarded an Alvin M. Bentley Foundation Scholarship Award for Excellence to Bay de Noc Community College for the academic year 1969-70 in the amount of $250.

Mary K. Poquette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George L. Poquette, Hermansville, also will receive a Bentley Foundation Scholarship Award for Excellence to Bay de Noc Community College for the academic year 1969-70 in the amount of $250.

Scholarships were given this year to students who had graduated or were graduating from Michigan high schools who applied for the scholarships at the 62 Michigan institutions receiving the grants. Selection of the winners was made by the scholarship committees of the colleges and universities.

The Bentley Foundation is currently contributing $37,500 for scholarships for the academic year 1968-69. Its commitment for the school year will bring total contributions to nearly $517,000 for the eight years the foundation has been in operation.

Trustees of the foundation determine each year which Michigan institutions will benefit from the foundation's program "to administer funds for science, education and charitable projects." The institution itself determines who will receive the individual scholarships, which may amount up to a maximum of $500. In addition to the scholarship program, foundation trustees have also made grants in furtherance of the other objectives of the foundation.

Committee To Decide On Recreation Bills

GRAND RAPIDS (AP) — State Sen. Gordon Rockwell, R-Mount Morris, predicted Monday there will be a "lot of haggling" before the controversial $100 million recreation bond issue is voted upon by the Legislature.

Rockwell is chairman of the Senate Conservation Committee, which along with the House Conservation Committee, completed final hearing on the issue here Monday. Earlier hearings were conducted at Detroit, Traverse City and Escanaba.

The Senate and House conservation committees are scheduled to meet separately Wednesday to decide which of three bills to present to the Legislature. The deadline is Thursday.

Pirate Plane Off To Cuba

MIAMI (AP) — A gunman and a companion with a shiny knife have carried out the year's 25th airliner hijacking to Cuba.

The sky pirates stayed behind in Havana, but the other 66 passengers and the crew of seven returned to Miami early today after a four-hour stay on the Communist island.

A National Airlines spokesman said the two passengers who did not return identified themselves as "Mr. N. Marion" and Mr. J. Gagnon.

The plane was about 20 minutes from a Miami landing Monday night when the hijackers took charge. The gunman grabbed stewardess Nancee E. Nowicki.

"He just told me he wanted to go to Cuba and open the door to the cockpit or he'd kill me," Miss Nowicki said.

The gunman directed pilot Edward Hodgson to head for Havana. The crew was warned not to use the radio or plane intercom system.

The gunman stayed in the pilot's compartment and kept Miss Nowicki with him. The man with the knife stood outside facing the passengers.

Dr. Ilya Spigland of Mount Vernon, N.Y., a passenger with his wife and two children, said two Cuban soldiers in olive-green uniforms greeted the hijackers in Havana.

"They took the gun and knife and led them away," Spigland said.

"Urban needs cannot be met by rushing in funding on a stop-gap basis without looking at the entire picture," he said. "It is going to take much more than $30 million to meet the recreation needs of the cities."

ken's 30-30-40 proposal which would allocate 40 per cent to outstate areas and most of the remaining 60 per cent to urban areas.

"If we are to make our cities the living experience they should be for all citizens," Sonneveldt said. "It will take much more than we have been able to do. The 30-30-40 split based on population will make possible much recreational facilities which are not available."

He said "the greatest needs are in the populated areas and this, like all other programs, should be aimed where it would do the most good."

In Need Brooks, while also endorsing Milliken's recreation proposal, said, "the Legislature should have contacted us earlier to see how they want this money split."

The City of Muskegon, he said, could utilize some of the funds to construct neighborhood centers and also improve its shoreline to attract tourists.

Arthur Heimer of Grand Rapids, United Auto Workers Union public relations director for the southwestern and northern sections of Michigan, was one of the few proponents to testify for an 80-20 split favored by Detroit Mayor Jerome Cavanagh.

"When only limited funds are available and some people are badly in need," Heimer said, "we favor the 80-20 split." Heimer said, however, that he spoke for only UAW leadership.

Thirteen ships, authorized by the Continental Congress in 1775, constituted the nucleus of Uncle Sam's Navy.

A Consumers spokesman said the two sides met without the presence of state or federal mediators.

Some 5,200 utility workers struck April 8 to support their new contract demands.

Reds Refuse Man Asylum

BERLIN (AP) — A West Berlin man asked the Red army for asylum in the Soviet Union Monday, but the Russians said no and called the police instead.

It happened at the Soviet war memorial in West Berlin, guarded around the clock by a Red army platoon.

Police said the man, identified only as 26 years old and apparently sober, advanced onto memorial territory and asked for asylum in Russia.

The Red army "picked him up," as the Russians put it, called the police and handed him back into western hands.

Celtics Continue Reign In Pro Basketball World

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The reign of the Boston Celtics continues in the National Basketball Association and frustration remained the key word for the Los Angeles Lakers today.

The well-balanced Celtics defeated the Lakers, 108-106, in the seventh and deciding game of the series Monday night.

Signup Slated For Babe Ruth

Last year's Little League graduates are reminded to register for Babe Ruth baseball this week at the Catherine Bonifas Civic Center. Blanks are available at the Civic Center and at 1415 16th Ave. S.

Parents are required to sign the official form and include the date of birth. National Babe Ruth League rules make it necessary to verify the birth date with a government unit birth certificate. This may be from a city, county or state. Hospital birth certificates are not acceptable.

The first tryout will be held on Thursday, May 22, at the Babe Ruth field on South 14th street and will begin at 6 p.m. "It is very important that these blanks and certificates be turned in before May 19 so that the candidate's name can be included on the official roster for tryouts," league secretary Paul Vardigan stated this morning.

The Escanaba program will operate with six teams and officials expect a well-balanced league this summer. Local groups sponsoring teams include U.A.W.-C.I.O. 632, Escanaba Insurance Agents Association, Kiwanis Club, Mead Paper Company, Teamster Local 328 and the Escanaba Banks.

GALA REOPENING

Fri.-Sat.-Sun.

Another season of movies under the stars.

They did it on the friendly home court of the Lakers.

Capt. Elgin Baylor of the Lakers summed it up very well when he said, "It becomes very discouraging the way Boston seems to tantalize us and then always come through in the clutch. They outplayed us in the third quarter and took the game away from us."

Player-coach Bill Russell of the winners, having made this his 11th winning season, took it all calmly—and happily.

One minute 50 seconds into the third period Keith Erickson's free throw tied it up at 60-60 and it appeared the Lakers might roll on.

The hope evaporated as Havlicek, Don Nelson and Sam Jones, the latter playing his final game, put 11 points on the scoreboard in a matter of minutes and cruised out in front, 71-60.

"I think the turning point came at this point," said Havlicek.

Gladstone Wins Newberry Meet

Saturday was a big day for the Gladstone Braves as they traveled to Newberry and finished in first place among eleven schools in the Newberry Invitational track meet.

The Braves only picked up five first places in the meet, but got enough seconds and thirds to emerge victorious. The only double winner in the meet for the Braves was Mike Skorupski, who won his section of the 440-yard dash in :54.9 and the long jump with a leap of 20 feet 4 inches.

Other first place finishers were Ralph Dollhopf, mile; Cliff Young, 880; Rick Lorenson in the 100-yard dash and the mile relay team composed of Young, Skorupski, Dean Culliton and Bill Hoehn.

Other finishers for the Braves in the meet included Mark Weber, third in pole vault; Bill Swenson, fifth in the pole vault; Skorupski, tie for fifth in the high jump; Jeff Schram, second in the two mile; Gary Ellison, fourth in the two mile; Bill Marmalick, fourth in the mile; Dean Culliton, third in the 880; Mark Stupak, fourth in the 880; Brian Anderson and Mike McGeary, fourth in their heats of the 440 and Rick Lorenson, second in the 220. The 880 relay team placed third in its specialty.

Final standings showed the Braves with 62 points followed by Petoskey with 34½. Gladstone returns to action on Wednesday at the Soo Kiwanis met and again on Saturday at the Great Lakes Conference meet at Ishpeming.

ek. "They came on strong but we put together 10 or 15 points." Going into the fourth quarter, it was Boston, 91-76.

"We had opportunities all over the place," said Lakers coach Bill van Breda Kolff, "but we just couldn't do it. I really thought we had a chance to win it in the beginning of the third period because we were getting good shots, but the game just turned around instead. The ball just appeared to bounce their way."

But the Lakers weren't dead as of Sam Jones said later, "They just kept coming back." West, apparently not bothered by a pulled hamstring in his left leg, accounted for 14 points in about five minutes to narrow the Celtic margin to 103-100.

But Larry Siegfried, Nelson and the awesome Havlicek stormed back to put the game really out of reach, 108-102, with less than 24 seconds remaining. West won the Sport Magazine award—a Dodge R-T car—as the outstanding player of the series. His 556 points in the prolonged NBA playoffs bettered the 521 set by Rick Barry, then of San Francisco's Warriors, three years ago.

Said West, "The award should have gone to a player on the winning team." The consensus: Havlicek.

Retzlaff Accepts Eagles' Front Office Jobs

The 37-year-old Retzlaff succeeds the recently fired Joe Kuharich as general manager.

His first job will be to name Retzlaff's successor as coach, expected to be Jerry Williams, a one-time Eagles' star now coaching Calgary in the Canadian Football League, or Charley Gauer, a former Eagles' assistant coach.

Kuharich's 10 years remaining on a 15-year contract as general manager-coach, were bought out by new Eagles' owner Leonard Tose, Norristown, Pa. trucking executive.

Tose, who purchased the Eagles last week from Jerry Wolman for $16,155,000, is turning full operation of the Eagles over to Retzlaff, the former tight end.

The Associated Press learned Retzlaff favors Williams for the coaching job, but Calgary's board of directors has refused the Eagles permission to talk to Williams.

The board says Williams should abide by his four-year contract and remain with theStampeders.

If Retzlaff is unable to get Williams, the prime candidate for the position is Gauer, an offensive coach with the Eagles' 1960 title team.

A two-way end for the Eagles for three years after graduating from Colgate in 1942, Gauer returned as an assistant coach in 1954 and remained through 1963. Retzlaff has been a television sportscaster here since retiring as a player two years ago.

Retzlaff was purchased by the Eagles in 1956 for the then $100 waiver price from the Detroit Lions.

He was a fullback at South Dakota State College before being drafted by the Lions, who converted him into an end.

He went on to become one of the best pass receivers in league history, an All-NFL selection before quitting in 1967.

Retzlaff ranked as the fifth best pass receiver in NFL history at his retirement and he played in five Pro Bowl games.

Gauer, 47, spent 11 years with the Eagles as player, scout and assistant coach. In that time, Philadelphia had only one losing season.

Williams, 45, paired with Gauer as a defensive backfield coach on the Eagles' 1960 club.

His most notable achievement as a coach came in the Canadian Football League, when he led Calgary to the Western Division championship in 1967 and was cited as Coach of the Year.

West, apparently not bothered by a pulled hamstring in his left leg, accounted for 14 points in about five minutes to narrow the Celtic margin to 103-100.

But Larry Siegfried, Nelson and the awesome Havlicek stormed back to put the game really out of reach, 108-102, with less than 24 seconds remaining.

West won the Sport Magazine award—a Dodge R-T car—as the outstanding player of the series. His 556 points in the prolonged NBA playoffs bettered the 521 set by Rick Barry, then of San Francisco's Warriors, three years ago.

Said West, "The award should have gone to a player on the winning team."

The consensus: Havlicek.

Gladstone Wins Newberry Meet

Saturday was a big day for the Gladstone Braves as they traveled to Newberry and finished in first place among eleven schools in the Newberry Invitational track meet.

The Braves only picked up five first places in the meet, but got enough seconds and thirds to emerge victorious. The only double winner in the meet for the Braves was Mike Skorupski, who won his section of the 440-yard dash in :54.9 and the long jump with a leap of 20 feet 4 inches.

Other first place finishers were Ralph Dollhopf, mile; Cliff Young, 880; Rick Lorensen in the 100-yard dash and the mile relay team composed of Young, Skorupski, Dean Culliton and Bill Hoehn.

Other finishers for the Braves in the meet included Mark Weber, third in pole vault; Bill Swenson, fifth in the pole vault; Skorupski, tie for fifth in the high jump; Jeff Schram, second in the two mile; Gary Ellison, fourth in the two mile; Bill Marmalik, fourth in the mile; Dean Culliton, third in the 880; Mark Stupak, fourth in the 880; Brian Anderson and Mike McGahey, fourth in their heats of the 440 and Rick Lorensen, second in the 220. The 880 relay team placed third in its specialty.

Final standings showed the Braves with 62 points followed by Petoskey with 34½. Gladstone returns to action on Wednesday at the Soo Kiwanis met and again on Saturday at the Great Lakes Conference meet at Ishpeming.

Retzlaff Accepts Eagles' Front Office Jobs

The 37-year-old Retzlaff succeeds the recently fired Joe Kuharich as general manager.

His first job will be to name Kuharich's successor as coach, expected to be Jerry Williams, a one-time Eagles' star now coaching Calgary in the Canadian Football League, or Charley Gauer, a former Eagles' assistant coach.

Kuharich's 10 years remaining on a 15-year contract as general manager-coach, were bought out by new Eagles' owner Leonard Tose, Norristown, Pa. trucking executive.

Tose, who purchased the Eagles last week from Jerry Wolman for $16,155,000, is turning full operation of the Eagles over to Retzlaff, the former tight end.

The Associated Press learned Retzlaff favors Williams for the coaching job, but Calgary's board of directors has refused the Eagles permission to talk to Williams.

The board says Williams should abide by his four-year contract and remain with the Stampeders.

If Retzlaff is unable to get Williams, the prime candidate for the position is Gauer, an offensive coach with the Eagles' 1960 title team.

A two-way end for the Eagles for three years after graduating from Colgate in 1942, Gauer returned as an assistant coach in 1954 and remained through 1963.

Retzlaff has been a television sportscaster here since retiring as a player two years ago.

Retzlaff was purchased by the Eagles in 1956 for the then $100 waiver price from the Detroit Lions.

He was a fullback at South Dakota State College before being drafted by the Lions, who converted him into an end.

He went on to become one of the best pass receivers in league history, an All-NFL selection before quitting in 1967.

Retzlaff ranked as the fifth best pass receiver in NFL history at his retirement and he played in five Pro Bowl games.

Gauer, 47, spent 11 years with the Eagles as player, scout and assistant coach. In that time, Philadelphia had only one losing season.

Williams, 45, paired with Gauer as a defensive backfield coach on the Eagles' 1960 club.

His most notable achievement as a coach came in the Canadian Football League, when he led Calgary to the Western Division championship in 1967 and was cited as Coach of the Year.

Signup Slated For Babe Ruth

Last year's Little League graduates are reminded to register for Babe Ruth baseball this week at the Catherine Bonifas Civic Center. Blanks are available at the Civic Center and at 1415 18th Ave. S.

Parents are required to sign the official form and include the date of birth. National Babe Ruth League rules make it necessary to verify the birth date with a government unit birth certificate. This may be from a city, county or state. Hospital birth certificates are not acceptable.

The first tryout will be held on Thursday, May 22, at the Babe Ruth field on South 14th street and will begin at 6 p.m.

"It is very important that these blanks and certificates be turned in before May 19 so that the candidate's name can be included on the official roster for tryouts," league secretary Paul Vardigan stated this morning.

The Escanaba program will operate with six teams and officials expect a well-balanced league this summer. Local groups sponsoring teams include U.A.W.-C.I.O. 632, Escanaba Insurance Agents Association, Kiwanis Club, Mead Paper Company, Teamster Local 328 and the Escanaba Banks.

Crusaders Crush Emerald Harriers In Dual Meeting

MANISTIQUE — What constitutes a convincing victory? The Holy Name Crusaders answered that question last night when they completely crushed the Manistique Emeralds in a dual track meet by a score of 100 to 18.

The Crusader cindermen captured 13 first places in the 14 events and had complete sweeps in the shot put, the mile run, the high hurdles and the 880-yard dash.

Jim Dubord and Joe Lasnoski were the big point getters in the meet for Holy Name, Dubord taking top honors in the 100 and 220 yard dashes and the long jump and Lasnoski emerging victorious in both hurdle events. Other first places were recorded by Paul Guentette, two mile run; Noel Gannon, mile run; Bob McGinn, 80-yard dash; Tom Creten, 440-yard dash; Dan Young, shot put; and Nick Knauf, pole vault.

NEW YORK (AP) — Weeb Ewbank signed his third three-year contract Monday as coach and general manager of the New York Jets of the American Football League.

Ewbank, who celebrates his 62nd birthday Tuesday, said: "It's basically the same as the other contracts and, yeah, I got a raise."

It is estimated that the new contract calls for about $65,000 a year. Ewbank got $40,000 in his first contract and a reported $50,000 in 1966.

The Jets won the AFL championship last season and defeated the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League in the Super Bowl.

Tigers, Cardinals Looking To Change Of Scenery

By The Associated Press

East meets West tonight for the first time in baseball's tradition — breaking centennial season. It won't be too soon for the Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Cardinals.

After a month of uninterrupted intra-division play in the majors' new East-West alignment, the 24 clubs begin extended swings outside their groupings — with the runaway 1968 pennant winners scrambling to make up lost ground.

The world champion Tigers, who captured the American League flag by 12 lengths, are two games under .500 and seven games behind front-running Baltimore in the AL East Division.

St. Louis, which took the National League top spot by nine games last fall, is four games below the break-even mark and trails the first place Chicago Cubs by seven games in the NL East. The Cardinals have been beaten 11 times in 12 home games and are just one-half length ahead of Montreal's divi-two.

Four Philadelphia relief pitchers combined to produce the Tiger shutout. Gary Wagner, Bill Wilson, Barry Lersch and Al Raffo allowed the Tigers only four hits.

The Phillies scored their first run in the opening off loser Joe Sparma. Johnny Briggs singled, advanced to third on a single-bagger by Rich Allen, and scored on Johnny Callison's sacrifice fly.

Two walks and Ron Stone's hit off Mike Kilkenny gave the Phillies their second run in the fifth. Don Money's bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the eighth drove in the third run. Mickey Stanley got two of Detroit's hits, a first-inning double and a single in the sixth. Jim Price and Gates Brown collected the other length ahead of Montreal's divi-two.

Last May 6, Detroit was 14-8 and Denny McLain had won his first four pitching decisions on the way to a fantastic 31-6 finish and the league's Most Valuable Player and Cy Young awards. Bob Gibson, 22-9 and the NL MVP and Cy Young winner, was 2-1 at the same point for the Cards, who had won 15 of 23 starts.

McLain, 4-3 this spring, is scheduled to pitch for the Tigers tonight at Detroit against the surprising Kansas City Royals. Gibson, 2-2, is set to go for the Cardinals at St. Louis against San Francisco.

Three National League pitchers who have seized the 1969 spotlight by hurling early season no-hitters—Montreal's Bill Stoneman, Cincinnati's Jim Maloney and Houston's Don Wilson—also are due to work in their clubs' inter-division openers.

Stoneman, who made history for the expansion Expos against Philadelphia on April 17, is their scheduled starter at Atlanta. Maloney and Wilson, who fired no-hitters in successive games at Cincinnati April 30 and May 1, are set to pitch at New York and Philadelphia, respectively. San Diego is at Pittsburgh and Los Angeles at the Chicago Cubs in other National League games. In the American League, Minnesota is at Cleveland, Washington at Oakland, the Chicago White Sox at Baltimore, Boston at Seattle and the New York Yankees at California.

While the Tigers have had trouble getting started in the AL, new Manager Billy Martin has sent Minnesota out of the West Division gate in high gear and Washington, aroused by first year pilot Ted Williams, has risen up from the 1968 cellar to challenge Baltimore in the East.

The Twins, who finished seventh last season, 24 games off the pace, have won eight in a row and 16 of their last 19 for a 2 1/2-game lead in the West. The Senators, 37 1/2 games behind the Tigers last October, have won 10 of their last 11 to seize second place in the East, 3 1/2 lengths behind the high-flying Orioles.

Atlanta and Chicago each 11-12 a year ago today, are perched atop the National League standings. The Braves, geographic misfits in the West, lead Los Angeles and San Francisco by two games. The Cubs are two up on Pittsburgh in the East.

Kansas City, third in the AL West with a 13-11 mark, has been most impressive among the four expansion clubs. San Diego, Montreal and Seattle are playing sub-.500 ball. All four averaged better than the Cleveland Indians, who have lost 18 of 21 starts, and the Astros, who dropped 15 of 16 in one stretch before Wilson came up with his no-hitter.

On the plus side, the Astros pulled off seven double plays against San Francisco last Sunday, tying the major league record set 23 years ago by the Yankees.

Other highlights in the first month of the campaign included record home run sprees by the Red Sox and Baltimore's Frank Robinson and a six-hit binge by KC rookie Bob Oliver last Sunday.

The Red Sox poled 27 homers in 11 consecutive games and Robinson connected 10 times in the month of April. Oliver became the first AL player in seven years to collect six hits in a game when he clubbed four singles, a double and his third homer against California.

Robinson, batting .340 and leading the majors with 25 RBI, has triggered the Orioles' 20-8 getaway along with 5-0 left-hander Dave McNally. A year ago today, Robinson was batting .250, with no homers and three RBI.

The Mets' Cleon Jones, a notorious slow starter in previous years, leads NL batters with a .398 average—compared to his .246 mark at this juncture last season. Rod Carew of the Twins is the AL pacesetter at .395.

Tigers, Cardinals Looking To Change Of Scenery

By The Associated Press

East meets West tonight for the first time in baseball's tradition — breaking centennial season. It won't be too soon for the Detroit Tigers and St. Louis Cardinals.

After a month of uninterrupted intra-division play in the majors' new East-West alignment, the 24 clubs begin extended swings outside their groupings — with the runaway 1968 pennant winners scrambling to make up lost ground.

The world champion Tigers, who captured the American League flag by 12 lengths, are two games under .500 and seven games behind front-running Baltimore in the AL East Division.

St. Louis, which took the National League top spot by nine games last fall, is four games below the break-even mark and trails the first place Chicago Cubs by seven games in the NL East. The Cardinals have been beaten 11 times in 12 home games and are just one-half length ahead of Montreal's division tailenders.

Detroit even found the exhibition circuit tough Monday night, as it lost 3-0 to the Philadelphia Phillies in a Junior Baseball Federation benefit contest at Philadelphia.

Four Philadelphia relief pitchers combined to produce the Tiger shutout. Gary Wagner, Bill Wilson, Barry Lersch and Al Raffo allowed the Tigers only four hits.

The Phillies scored their first run in the opening off loser Joe Sparma. Johnny Briggs singled, advanced to third on a single-bagger by Rich Allen, and scored on Johnny Callison's sacrifice fly.

Two walks and Ron Stone's hit off Mike Kilkenny gave the Phillies their second run in the fifth. Don Money's bases-loaded sacrifice fly in the eighth drove in the third run. Mickey Stanley got two of Detroit's hits, a first-inning double and a single in the sixth. Jim Price and Gates Brown collected the other two.

Last May 6, Detroit was 14-8 and Denny McLain had won his first four pitching decisions on the way to a fantastic 31-6 finish and the league's Most Valuable Player and Cy Young awards. Bob Gibson, 22-9 and the NL MVP and Cy Young winner, was 2-1 at the same point for the Cards, who had won 15 of 23 starts.

McLain, 4-3 this spring, is scheduled to pitch for the Tigers tonight at Detroit against the surprising Kansas City Royals. Gibson, 2-2, is set to go for the Cardinals at St. Louis against San Francisco.

Three National League pitchers who have seized the 1969 spotlight by hurling early season no-hitters—Montreal's Bill Stoneman, Cincinnati's Jim Maloney and Houston's Don Wilson—also are due to work in their clubs' inter-division openers.

Stoneman, who made history for the expansion Expos against Philadelphia on April 17, is their scheduled starter at Atlanta. Maloney and Wilson, who fired 10 of their last 17 to seize second place in the East, 3½ lengths behind the high-flying Orioles.

San Diego is at Pittsburgh and Los Angeles at the Chicago Cubs in other National League games. In the American League, Minnesota is at Cleveland, Washington at Oakland, the Chicago White Sox at Baltimore, Boston at Seattle and the New York Yankees at California.

While the Tigers have had trouble getting started in the AL, new Manager Billy Martin has sent Minnesota out of the West Division gate in high gear and Washington, aroused by first year pilot Ted Williams, has risen up from the 1968 cellar to challenge Baltimore in the East.

The Twins, who finished seventh last season, 24 games off the pace, have won eight in a row and 16 of their last 19 for a 2½-game lead in the West. The Senators, 37½ games behind the Tigers last October, have won

Police's Cruel Tactics Scored By Earl Warren

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren was joined by two of his Supreme Court colleagues Monday in scoring Michigan police for using "medieval cruelty" to obtain a confession from a shooting suspect.

But the court refused, by a margin of one vote, to consider the appeal of Loner Bradford, serving 20 to 40 years imprisonment for assault with intent to murder two Benton Harbor police officers.

Bradford said a companion, LeRoy Payne, had been tortured by police until he agreed to testify against him. Payne later recanted his testimony.

Warren, joined by Justices William O. Douglas and Thurgood Marshall, said in his dissent "the majesty of the law cannot be enhanced by a conviction based on medieval cruelty" and that Bradford's conviction should be reversed.

Bradford failed, however, to get the court to hear his appeal. At least four votes are needed for the high tribunal to take a case. The vote was 6 to 3.

The chief justice noted that Payne had, immediately after his arrest, been called names; threatened with being thrown out of a police car and shot; and beaten up and tortured during the questioning.

At Bradford's trial, the state admitted such tactics had been used to get Payne to implicate Bradford.

Payne, also charged in the shooting, had his guilty plea set aside by a lower court because of the coercion.

It is now commonplace," Warren said, "that coerced confessions are inadmissible at criminal trials because they are untrustworthy and the methods used to obtain them offend the principle that our system of criminal justice is accusatorial and not inquisitorial."

The chief justice added that he did not think it relevant that "the coercion in this case was exerted against the chief state witness rather than the accused."

Claim Wallace Party Stronger

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — It remains to be seen whether George C. Wallace will run for president again, but an aide says he already has "the basis for a better national organization than we had in the election last year."

The aide, Taylor Hardin, said it was put together over the weekend in Cincinnati, Ohio, when Wallace partisans from 38 states formed a new American Party.

Welded together were Wallace's old American Independent Party and kindred third-party alliances—in one state or another—which supported the former Alabama governor in 1968. Wallace disclaimed any active part in the new organization but said he was "pleased with the outcome" and with the officers chosen to lead the new party.

T. Coleman Andrews of Richmond, who headed the 1968 third-party movement in Virginia, was elected national chairman and Bill Davis of Covington, Tenn., a pro-Wallace candidate for Congress earlier this year, is the vice chairman.

Mackinac Bridge Traffic Continues To Break Records

ST. IGNACE — Mackinac Bridge traffic continued its record-breaking pace in April, but at a somewhat lesser degree than the first three months of 1969, according to Prentiss M. Brown, chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority.

"April traffic was 12.8 per cent ahead of last year. It was up more than 23 per cent during January, February and March. However, there were 7,077 crossings last month while during the previous months substantially fewer vehicles crossed over the bridge."

"Thus, the record-breaking traffic that occurred during those months reflected higher percentages of increase than can be expected during months of heavier traffic. It is interesting to note that April 1969 crossings were 147.2 per cent higher than April of 1957, the last year of ferry operation, 31,179 crossings compared with 77,077 crossings," said Brown.

Revenues, including April's share of the $3.5 million subsidy effective Jan. 1, were $288,610, down 6.6 per cent from the $309,147 collected a year ago. For the first four months of 1969 traffic is up 21.2 per cent from 181,060 crossings to 219,518. Revenues are down 0.5 per cent from $856,882 to $852,290.

Police's Cruel Tactics Scored By Earl Warren

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chief Justice Earl Warren was joined by two of his Supreme Court colleagues Monday in scoring Michigan police for using "medieval cruelty" to obtain a confession from a shooting suspect.

But the court refused, by a margin of one vote, to consider the appeal of Loner Bradford, serving 20 to 40 years imprisonment for assault with intent to murder two Benton Harbor police officers.

Bradford said a companion, LeRoy Payne, had been tortured by police until he agreed to testify against him. Payne later recanted his testimony.

Warren, joined by Justices William O. Douglas and Thurgood Marshall, said in his dissent "the majesty of the law cannot be enhanced by a conviction based on medieval cruelty" and that Bradford's conviction should be reversed.

Bradford failed, however, to get the court to hear his appeal. At least four votes are needed for the high tribunal to take a case. The vote was 6 to 3.

The chief justice noted that Payne had, immediately after his arrest, been called names; threatened with being thrown out of a police car and shot; and beaten up and tortured during the questioning.

At Bradford's trial, the state admitted such tactics had been used to get Payne to implicate Bradford.

Payne, also charged in the shooting, had his guilty plea set aside by a lower court because of the coercion.

It is now commonplace, Warren said, "that coerced confessions are inadmissible at criminal trials because they are untrustworthy and the methods used to obtain them offend the principle that our system of criminal justice is accusatorial and not inquisitorial."

The chief justice added that he did not think it relevant that "the coercion in this case was exerted against the chief state witness rather than the accused."

Claim Wallace Party Stronger

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — It remains to be seen whether George C. Wallace will run for president again, but an aide says he already has "the basis for a better national organization than we had in the election last year."

The aide, Taylor Hardin, said it was put together over the weekend in Cincinnati, Ohio, when Wallace partisans from 38 states formed a new American Party.

Welded together were Wallace's old American Independent Party and kindred third-party alliances—in one state or another—which supported the former Alabama governor in 1968.

Wallace disclaimed any active part in the new organization but said he was "pleased with the outcome" and with the officers chosen to lead the new party.

T. Coleman Andrews of Richmond, who headed the 1968 third-party movement in Virginia, was elected national chairman and Bill Davis of Covington, Tenn., a pro-Wallace candidate for Congress earlier this year, is the vice chairman.

Mackinac Bridge Traffic Continues To Break Records

ST. IGNACE — Mackinac Bridge traffic continued its record-breaking pace in April, but at a somewhat lesser degree than the first three months of 1969, according to Prentiss M. Brown, chairman of the Mackinac Bridge Authority.

"April traffic was 12.8 per cent ahead of last year. It was up more than 23 per cent during January, February and March. However, there were 7,077 crossings last month while during the previous months substantially fewer vehicles crossed over the bridge."

"Thus, the record-breaking traffic that occurred during those months reflected higher percentages of increase than can be expected during months of heavier traffic. It is interesting to note that April 1969 crossings were 147.2 per cent higher than April of 1957, the last year of ferry operation, 31,179 crossings compared with 77,077 crossings," said Brown.

Pollution Control Measure Awaits Milliken's Signature

Communities Get Go-Ahead On Water Plans

LANSING (AP) — Only the signature of Gov. William G. Milliken remained to be added today to a bill allocating $285 million in long-awaited water pollution control bonds.

Milliken's name on the bill, together with final agreement Thursday by the House and Senate means some 116 communities may gear up to start construction projects for pollution control and water purification that have been held up for nearly a year.

Construction of approved projects must get underway by Dec. 31. New applications must be submitted to the water resources commission by Dec. 15. Detroit would receive the largest initial chunk—some $6 million—and an estimated $70 million over the five-year life of the bonded program, intended to help communities with critical pollution control problems.

Pays 50 Per Cent
Revenue from the bonds, approved by voters at last November's general election, enables Michigan to pay 50 per cent of the cost of local projects qualifying under the 1968 federal Water Pollution Control Act. That act supplies 5 per cent of the cost; applicant governments must supply the remaining 45 per cent.

A bill to help cities, townships and counties raise the required revenue also passed the House Thursday and now faces Senate action.

Introduced by Rep. Ray Smit, R-Ann Arbor, it allows communities to issue "full faith and credit" bonds if voted by the appropriate city council, township or county board of supervisors.

Legislative approval of the bill came after agreement on two earlier differences between the two chambers.

Set Limit
The House insisted that prime authority to approve grant applications remain with the Water Resources Commission. Review by appropriations committees of each chamber will be limited to reducing the list submitted by the commission. The order of priority or amounts of award may not be changed. In addition, both chambers are to pass on authorizing resolutions based on full membership vote.

The Senate, meanwhile, insisted that credit to communities that phase out existing plants be limited to straight depreciation over 40 years for buildings and 20 years for equipment. The House had proposed credit be allowed for as much as 50 per cent of the value of the grant.

Wayne Students Protest Firings

DETROIT (AP)—Students at Wayne State University's Monmouth College held a quiet protest Thursday to voice their objections to the school's decision not to rehire three instructors.

About 50 students gathered around Dean Woodburn O. Ross outside the Wayne administration building and presented their grievances.

When one student accused Ross of evading the issue, others told him to "cool it." Jon Keller, a freshman in the 10-year-old experimental liberal arts college, said the students would try to work within established rules to persuade the college to rehire the three.

Ross said he would welcome the action.

Production Up

DETROIT (AP) — Auto production this week was up from last week, when Memorial Day cut into output, although production was below the corresponding week a year ago. Saturday work helped increase production.

Muskegon detectives said the boys, ages 17-19, may be charged with larceny. (AP Wirephoto)

Marijuana Not Addictive

WASHINGTON (AP) — The head of the National Science Foundation says there is no scientific evidence that smoking marijuana is harmful or addictive. In fact, says Dr. Leland J. Haworth, the information available now indicates the opposite may be true.

"It is our puritan ethics which says we shouldn't do this rather than science which says we should not, at the moment," Dr. Haworth told a House Appropriations subcommittee in testimony released today. Haworth said it still remains a scientific problem to decide whether marijuana is dangerous to society. He likened it to alcohol and said a similar decision would have to be made if alcohol had just been discovered.

Similar statements touched off a controversy in 1967 when

Special Elections Are Now Legal

LANSING (AP) — A bill permitting the holding of special elections for educational programs, including property tax increase proposals, has been signed into law by Gov. William Milliken.

Previously, such special elections could be held only at the same time as the annual school election.

Another bill signed by the Governor would permit law enforcement by township police departments with one or more fulltime officers.

Turkish Bath Too Revealing

ISTANBUL (AP) — It was ladies' night at the Turkish bath, but the wives at the International Chamber of Commerce convention didn't know they'd be pinups in the Turkish papers.

While their businessmen husbands attended to convention business Wednesday, about a dozen wives from as many countries got a Turkish-style scrubbing in one of the fashionable baths in this historic metropolis.

As they lay on the big marble Navel Stone washing themselves and being scrubbed by Turkish women, they were oblivious to the women photographers covering the bath party for the local press.

The next day, photos in color and black and white appeared in the newspapers showing the naked ladies in a variety of positions. It caused quite a stir at the convention.

Escanaba's Plan Being Processed

By CLINT DUNATHAN
Escanaba's application for state and federal funds to assist in financing a nearly $6 million sanitary improvement program is now being processed, reports City Manager George Harvey.

Some of the state funding will be from the $285 million water pollution control bonds, plus money from anticipated federal appropriations.

Francis D'Amour, superintendent of the city's water and wastewater department, said that "optimistically" about 45 to 50 per cent of the costs of the $6 million Escanaba program will come from state and federal sources.

The remainder of the project cost—some $3 million—will be raised by utility revenue bonding.

Plan Conference
Extension of the Escanaba sanitary sewer service to developing areas of the community, and up-grading of sanitary sewerage treatment to meet rising state and federal standards, are part of the program.

The goal is to bring the sanitary waste facility to a point where it will serve the present and future needs of the community, and provide the capacity necessary to serve the Wells area to the north of the city—now without public sanitary sewerage treatment and disposal.

A pre-application conference with officials of the Housing and Urban Development office in Chicago will be held there June 19, and attended by D'Amour, City Engineer John Dulek and a representative of Black & Veatch, Escanaba's consulting engineers.

At that time Escanaba will be in a position to submit information establishing that the project is technically feasible, that the project can and will be initiated reasonably soon, and is required for the comprehensive plan development of the area.

Not Affected
"The progress of our water and sewer project has been painfully slow but all the legal, financial and engineering problems must be resolved before the regulatory agencies will certify funding for our project," reports City Manager George Harvey.

"Once these hurdles have been passed, the entire project probably will proceed in an orderly fashion."

The announcement by the Michigan Water Resources Commission today that 116 applications for state aid under the $285 million water pollution bond issue does not include Escanaba does not affect the Escanaba project, said D'Amour.

The 116 applications were those before the state last year and were held over for approval because of lack of funds.

Among the 116 were a few in the Upper Peninsula including Bessemer Township, Gogebic County; Clark Township, Mackinac County; Chocoma Township, Marquette County; and the village of Laurium.

Tartars Protest

MOSCOW (AP) — A small group of Tartars staged a public protest in Moscow today of Soviet treatment of their minority group. Police dragged them off.

Four Tartar men and two women unfurled protest banners on Mayakovskiy Square in downtown Moscow. The banners called for the return of the Tartars to their home in the Crimea, from which Stalin expelled them. Another banner demanded freedom for dissenter Pyotr Grigoryenko, who was jailed for his efforts to help the Tartars.

Fear 'Loan Crunch'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Hundreds of banks and other money lenders, setting the stage for what one official says will be a "real loan crunch," are telling the government they may have to sharply curtail or end student loans.

"It may just be sabre rattling," said an official of the insured loan bureau in the U.S. Office of Education, "but we are definitely concerned over a real loan crunch this summer."

At stake is more than $640 million in government guaranteed loans now going to 750,000 students under the Higher Education Act of 1965.

Under the act the government guarantees loans of up to $1,000 and a large part of the interest for almost any student certified as attending a college or university.

As commercial interest rates climbed, Congress last year raised the ceiling from the original 6 per cent ceiling to 7 per cent.

Earlier this year, however, the prime interest rate—the rate banks charge their most favored customers—spurred to 7½ per cent. With the actual rate that most lenders charge being closer to 10 per cent, most institutions prefer to sink their money into something besides students.

The executive of one Midwestern bank with $5 million in student loans said it would be "folly" to continue them unless the law is changed.

OUCH! — President Nixon grimaces as he gets a hearty handshake from Vice President Spiro T. Agnew at Andrews Air Force Base, Md., before flying to Midway Island for talks with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

Partial Viet Pull-Out Valueless: Fulbright

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright says a limited withdrawal of U.S. troops from Vietnam would be of little value unless it is a prelude to more extensive cutbacks and a political settlement of the war—which he doesn't foresee in the near future.

The Arkansas Democrat who chairs the powerful Senate Foreign Relations Committee said in an interview his pessimism stems from President Nixon's Wednesday speech charging critics of administration defense policies with being new isolationists who want unilateral disarmament.

That speech was a certain topic at today's brief and closed appearance of Secretary of State William P. Rogers before the committee prior to his leaving for the upcoming meeting on Midway Island between Nixon and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu.

There have been constant reports that Nixon and Thieu would announce at their Sunday meeting a withdrawal of 50,000 U.S. troops from the war zone.

"It would be a good thing to bring some of them home," Fulbright said. "They ought to bring all of them home." But "if it's used simply to placate those who disagree with their policies, it won't accomplish anything."

Fulbright said the Nixon speech sounded like those of former President Johnson and his secretary of state, Dean Rusk.

"It looks as if it's almost a complete adaptation of the policies of the past administration," said the senator who was a bitter critic of the Johnson war policies.

"I'm afraid after that speech, I'm doomed to disappointment," he said about the prospects of meaningful movements toward peace in the near future.

Fulbright said the speech undercut the conciliatory tone set by Nixon in an address to the nation May 14 dealing with Vietnam. "The tone was quite different," he said.

The Midway meeting is unlikely to produce any real progress toward peace, Fulbright declared. "The meetings President Johnson had didn't result in anything significant."

Johnson, a former national commander of the American Legion, will serve as chairman of the new study group, the President's Committee on the Vietnam Veterans.

In Johnson, the President said, the VA will have an administrator who has "the business background which qualifies him for administration, and he has a deep devotion to his country which goes completely beyond any partisan consideration, although he does happen to be a Republican."

He won the Bronze Star for bravery on April 2, 1945, in Germany.

After the war Johnson returned to West Branch where he worked in his foster father's poultry business. He currently is president of the West Branch Farm Supply Co. and secretary-treasurer of the S&J Poultry Co. Inc., of West Branch and Waterloo.

Johnson has spoken out repeatedly against violence on college campuses, suggesting that students who protest the Vietnam policy should raise money to send representatives to Vietnam to "learn for themselves the true facts of life."

Ship Survivors At Philippines
SUBIC BAY, Philippines (AP) — The U.S. carrier Kearsarge steamed into the harbor of this big U.S. Naval Base today with more than 190 survivors from the destroyer Frank E. Evans.

The skipper of the destroyer Cmdr. A. S. McLemore, was scheduled to be the first man off the carrier with his executive officer for a news conference.

The rest of the destroyer's crew was to remain on board the Kearsarge to receive fresh uniforms and identification cards. They were to come ashore after the news conference.

The Navy said the survivors would remain at the Subic Bay base indefinitely. A board of inquiry to investigate the collision is to convene here Monday.

Navy officials in Pearl Harbor said the stern half of the Evans, which remained afloat after the sinking, is expected to reach Subic Bay early Monday.

The wreck is being towed by a fleet tug, escorted by a salvage ship and a tanker.

OK Parochialism Amendment But Defeat Bill

LANSING (AP) — The State Senate Thursday approved an unexpected parochialism proposal, then defeated the bill to which it had attached the controversial amendment.

A reconsideration vote was planned Friday.

Members voted 21-13 for a proposal that would grant state money to private and parochial schools for driver education programs. The measure, sponsored by Sen. Robert Vanderlaan, R-Grand Rapids, was attached to a bill dealing with registration fees for leased trucks.

"This is not parochialism in any form," Vanderlaan maintained. "It's not a matter of parochialism. There's certainly nothing very religious about driver education."

Sen. Gilbert Bursley, R-Ann Arbor, an opponent of parochialism, cited "speculation there's going to be a test run on parochialism in the Senate."

"To many people this may be construed as that test run," he said, adding he would oppose the amendment.

"This has strong parochial connotations," said Sen. Coleman Young, D-Detroit.

"If this isn't parochialism, it'll do until the real thing comes along."

Sen. Robert Richardson, R-Saginaw, succeeded in amending the bill further, reducing the amount of alcohol required in a person's system for prosecution under Michigan's drunk-driving statutes.

When the final vote on the bill came up however, Senate President Pro Tem Thomas Schweigert, R-Petoskey, ruled passage would require 26 votes—the total stipulated in the State Constitution for measures granting state funds to private institutions.

The measure failed when 28 members approved it and 18 voted "no."

Johnson Named To VA Post

WEST BRANCH, Iowa (AP) — If President Nixon's choice for chief of the Veterans Administration is confirmed by the Senate, Donald E. Johnson will be the second man from this rural village to serve in Washington officialdom.

The first was President Herbert Hoover.

In announcing Johnson's appointment at San Clemente, Calif., Thursday, Nixon also disclosed he has ordered a study of means to improve benefits for returning veterans of the Vietnam war.

Johnson, a former national commander of the American Legion, will serve as chairman of the new study group, the President's Committee on the Vietnam Veterans.

In Johnson, the President said, the VA will have an administrator who has "the business background which qualifies him for administration, and he has a deep devotion to his country which goes completely beyond any partisan consideration, although he does happen to be a Republican."

He won the Bronze Star for bravery on April 2, 1945, in Germany.

Everyone benefits when a Mediacenter is built in your community. It relieves the hospital from over-crowded conditions; offers patients excellent facilities in comfortable surroundings, and at moderate rates. There is a National Association of Mediacenters whose primary purpose is to consider and discuss common needs relating to the operation of this facility. This Association functions for the sole purpose of improving the operations for the benefit of the patient. Mediacenter is fulfilling a need in today's society.

THE NEED Mediacenter was born out of an idea to provide, at moderate rates, in-patient care between intensive hospitalization and the return to a normal active life . . . regardless of the age of the patient or length of stay required. Mediacenter is a specialized approach to patient needs and will make a major contribution toward solving the growing problem of increased medical costs. Mediacenter operates as a unit of Mediacenters of America, Inc., under standardized procedures developed by the national organization which periodically inspects every Mediacenter.

THE FACILITY The architecture is designed to avoid the institutional look and to afford the patient a pleasant atmosphere in which to regain his health. The building features personal air-conditioning and heating with individual thermostats in every room and is completely fire-resistant. Both private and semi-private rooms are available.

Mediacenter offers beautifully decorated patient lounges, telephone and television, a trained physical and occupational therapist, barber and beauty shops, selective menus, a planned activities program designed to meet social and cultural needs, and non-restrictive visitation. The entire facility is patient-oriented and offers the finest health care for young and old alike during convalescence.

PATIENT CARE Mediacenter adheres to an open staff policy and each patient must be admitted by his own physician under whose direct care he remains. A registered nurse is on the premises 24 hours a day, seven days a week, in order to maintain professional care for each patient.

THE CONCEPT Mediacenter is a specialized approach to serving in-patient needs and offers the finest health care facilities to both young and old alike for the period between intensive hospitalization and a return to a normal active life. The Mediacenter concept guarantees constantly improving quality through private enterprise dedicated to better health care.

Street Paving Debated:

Country Club Balks At Sharing In Cost

The Escanaba Country Club is objecting to an assessment of about $1,479 as its share in the cost of blacktopping 19th St. S. between 10th and 12th Aves. S. along the west side of the golf course.

But the City Council decided it must pay its share.

Majority of the residents along the street petitioned the city for the improvement. The narrow little street (really an alley) is now dusty and bumpy.

The cost of the improvement is $2.40 per front foot assessment for property owners and the Country Club does not object to the improvement—but it does object to paying for it, the City Council was told Thursday night.

Has No Benefit

Don Goulais and W. J. Laviolette, representing the Country Club, said the Country Club will receive no benefit from the blacktopping of the street.

The $2.40 per front foot is comparatively low because there is no need to put in storm drainage, curbs and gutters.

Goulais asked the Council to have the city assessor determine the benefit, if any, to the Country Club.

The Council, however, said it expected to follow the processing of such assessments as it has been policy in the past, and the Councilmen were in agreement that the Country Club should pay its share of the cost of the improvement and saw no reason to "pass the buck" to the assessor.

On For $54,900

Residents of the area, including Don Mahoney and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Neumeier, who have frontage property on the street, spoke in behalf of the improvement and the assessment.

Mahoney said the Country Club had in the past also objected to being assessed for a sanitary sewer extension, but then hooked on.

City Manager George Harvey reported the Country Club had paid $547 for the sewer connection on a benefit basis. Mahoney said he had paid "over $600" for his home sewer connection.

Mrs. Neumeier asked at what figure the Country Club is assessed for taxes, and Harvey said it was about $55,000. (The assessed valuation is $54,900.)

Councilman Richard Pryal noted that the Country Club has an area of about 50 acres, and the value in a sale of residential lots would be $3,000 to $4,000 an acre.

Club Assessment

Goulais insisted that the city assessor must determine what benefit would come from the street improvement and set the street assessment.

Mrs. Neumeier suggested that if the city assessor was to be consulted, perhaps he should also consider whether the Country Club property was equitably assessed for its 50 acres at $55,000. "We are assessed at almost half that much on our home," she said.

Mayor Cecil Chase told Goulais and Laviolette:

"If the Country Club property itself was reappraised I think you would be flabbergasted, for you could divide that acreage into lots and make a mint on it."

Water Extension

Frank Neumeier pointed out that if street improvements were paid for on a personal benefit assessment basis, there would be few improvements, for all of the people use the streets and there is benefit to everyone in the city.

"We don't want to pay for it," said Goulais. "There is no direct benefit to the club," said Laviolette. The Country Club feels it is already "over assessed" for taxes, Laviolette added.

Each of the Councilmen spoke in support of assessing the Country Club for its share of the street improvement and the motion to confirm the assessments, made by Councilman Edward J. Cox and seconded by Councilman Robert Blink, was unanimously approved.

In other business the Council approved the contract recommended by the city manager with Kakuk Construction Co., Stephenson, for extension of a sanitary sewer to the Community College site.

The cost will be $106,146 and Kakuk's bid was lowest of three received. The Community College's share of the cost is $39,872. There are no federal or state funds for the project.

Will Talk Trade

The Council approved advertising for bids for the sale of the former Club 314 site on S. 14th St.; set June 19 as the date for second reading of amendments to the appropriations ordinance, and reported it will hold that meeting and those hereafter in the Civic Center.

The subject of talks with Morley-Murphy Co. on exchange of land with the goal the acquisition of the hardware distributing firm's building for a city hall, was held over until a meeting with Morley-Murphy officials can be arranged. Of the suggested exchange of property, recommended to the Council by the Planning Commission, Councilman Cox said:

"As long as we don't get into a one horse and one rabbit deal" he was agreeable to the discussion.

Ask Reasoning

The Council received from the County Board of Supervisors a resolution commending Police Chief Frederick and Mayor Chase said: "We're proud of our chief." Frederick recently graduated from the FBI training academy.

A petition to pave the area at S. 19th St. and 10th Ave. S. was received and the city manager will report to the Council on its feasibility.

A request of Red Owl Stores Inc. to rezone from light manufacturing to commercial the area where Red Owl is to develop a shopping center on N. 23rd St. was referred to the Planning Commission.

DENNIS FOLMAN, teacher at Escanaba Area High School, is the new President of the Escanaba Lions Club. Other officers for 1969-70 include August Brazeau, first vice president; David Andrews, second vice president; Gary Barton, third vice president; Ron DeVos, treasurer, and James Schultz, tamer. Folman succeeds Fred Say-Killy as president.

Civil Service Officials To Visit U.P. Employees

Top officials of the Michigan Department of Civil Service will hold communication meetings in Escanaba and Newberry open to the 1,300 classified state employees from seven eastern Upper Peninsula counties June 23 and 24.

State Personnel Director Franklin K. DeWald said the purpose of the visit will be to provide state workers in the U. P. with direct communication locally with key Civil Service administrators.

DeWald said that about 2,150 of the state's 44,000 classified workers are stationed in the 15 Upper Peninsula counties, most of them employed by the Department of Mental Health, Corrections, Social Services, State Police, Highways, Natural Resources, Health and Labor (MESC).

Clinics Planned

"The number of U. P. state workers has not justified a permanent office, but our communication meetings are an effort designed to help erase the time and distance gap between the U. P. and our Lansing office," DeWald said. The Commission has one district office in Detroit to serve some 12,000 state workers in the four-county Detroit Metropolitan Area.

The schedule includes "Personal Problem" clinics from 3 to 5 p. m. June 23 at the Newberry Community Building and an evening general session at 8 p. m., with the same schedule in Escanaba on June 24 at the State Office Building.

The afternoon sessions will give employees a chance to discuss personal civil service questions on an individual basis and the evening meeting is designed for general open discussion.

Other activities in Newberry will include a luncheon June 23 with officers of Locals of the Michigan State Employees Union, dinner with administrators of the principal state departments in the area, and a breakfast June 24 with representatives of the Michigan State Employees Association, Michigan State Troopers Association, and Michigan Society of State Highway Engineers.

A noon luncheon in Escanaba with officers of the Employees, Troopers, and Corrections Officers Associations and a dinner with administrators of principal departments in the Escanaba area are also planned on June 24.

Civil Service officials will breakfast with Escanaba area officers of the Michigan State Employees Union before returning to Lansing on June 25.

Second Meeting Planned

DeWald said the visit is primarily aimed at state workers in Chippewa, Mackinac, Lapeer, Schoolcraft, Alger, Delta, and Menominee Counties. He indicated a similar session was planned later this year for employees in the western half of the U. P.

Civil Service officials scheduled to make the trip are C. J. Hess, Deputy Director; John R. O'Connor, Director of Employee Relations; Francis P. Kelly, Director of Agency Services; Norman Trimpe, Director of Research; and Norman R. Smith, Director of Training.

Alger-Delta Group To Meet

The annual meeting of the members of the Alger-Delta Cooperative Electric Association will be held Wednesday, June 18, at 12:30 p. m. at the Gladstone High School Gymnasium.

Mrs. Ingrid Bartelli, Michigan State University's consumer marketing information agent, will address the members and demonstrate marketing tips and special food preparations. Mrs. Bartelli has had varied experience in the home economics and consumer marketing fields.

Three directors, who were elected recently at district meetings will be seated. Elected for three-year terms are Ray Berger, to serve the North-east Menominee County and LaBranche Area; Vernon Peterson, to serve the Isabella, Naima, Highway 13 area, and Forest Wells to serve the Stonington area.

A variety of door prizes will be given away and all registered members will receive a supply of light bulbs.

A trio of 4-H girls from Ensign will entertain with several vocal selections and Nancy Berger will present a humorous reading.

U.P. Hunters Best In State

Upper Peninsula hunters again distinguished themselves last season as being the best in the state, with 22.9 per cent of them filling their licenses. Overall, U. P. hunters harvested 26,290 deer, nearly 1,000 more than last year's total.

Throughout the state the 1968 firearm deer kill turned out decidedly better than last season's as hunters took almost 100,000 whitetails to keep their harvest on a par with recent years, according to a survey conducted by the Department of Natural Resources.

Last season's harvest, estimated at 99,930 deer, is pegged to the DNR's postcard survey of more than 23,000 randomly selected hunters who held 1968 firearm deer licenses.

Hunter success last fall figured out to 16.9 per cent of 591,380 sportsmen who actually went afield. In 1967, when 104,050 whitetails were taken "under the gun," 18.4 per cent of the hunters scored successfully.

Buck Harvest Up

Latest survey results compiled by the DNR indicate that Michigan firearm hunters took 62,640 bucks and 87,290 antlerless deer in 1968. The buck harvest was up from the 1967 figure of 58,540, but the antlerless deer kill dropped by about 8,200 animals.

That reduction in kill partly reflects a reduction in antlerless deer permit quotas for northern Michigan. Compared with 1967, these quotas were cut last season by 10 per cent for the Upper Peninsula and by 7 per cent for the northern Lower Peninsula.

Under its final estimate, the DNR places the 1968 buck harvests at 14,400 in the Upper Peninsula, 36,780 in the northern Lower Peninsula, and a record-breaking 11,460 in the southern third of the state.

Measured against 1967, last season's buck totals rose by 3,120 animals in the Upper Peninsula and by 2,690 in the northern Lower Peninsula. In the northern Lower Peninsula, hunters connected on 1,710 fewer bucks than they did the year before.

NMU Scholars Compete Sunday On College Bowl

MARQUETTE — Northern Michigan University will meet undefeated Lehigh University on the nationally televised G. E. College Bowl at 5 p. m. Sunday.

Nearly 200 TV stations, including WLUC of Marquette, will carry Sunday's program. A large delegation of NMU alumni and former and present Upper Peninsula residents is expected to witness the season's last contest in the NBC studios in New York City.

Included in the group will be 28 seniors from Marquette High School who will be in New York on their class trip. Lehigh needs a victory over the NMU team to retire as "undefeated champions."

The Pennsylvania school has posted wins over teams representing Indiana (Pa.) University, University of Montana, Western (Ohio) College for Women, and George Washington University, Washington, D. C.

Northern will be represented by James Buchanan, junior mathematics major, and Richard Polzin, senior English major, both of Marquette; David W. Koski, sophomore biology major from Ishpeming; and Mark Jarboe, freshman philosophy major from Flint.

Alternate Blaine Betts, a Marquette junior majoring in history and speech, will give a brief history of NMU which will be complemented by a one-minute color film of the campus and the area.

Last season's antlerless deer take is estimated at 11,890 for the Upper Peninsula, 23,360 for the northern Lower Peninsula, and 2,040 for southern Michigan. In 1967, permit holders took 14,040 antlerless deer over the Straits, 29,880 in the northern Lower Peninsula, and 1,500 in the southern farm belt.

Success Drops

Hunter success in the northern Lower Peninsula slacked off during the '68 season with that region's hunters accounting for only 16.4 per cent of the harvest of 60,140 bucks and antlerless deer. That total fell about 8,000 short of what that region had harvested during 1967.

Southern Michigan's total deer harvest for 1968 hit a new all-time high of 13,500, a figure notched by 12.2 per cent of its hunters. That region's latest total stands 3,140 above the 1967 mark.

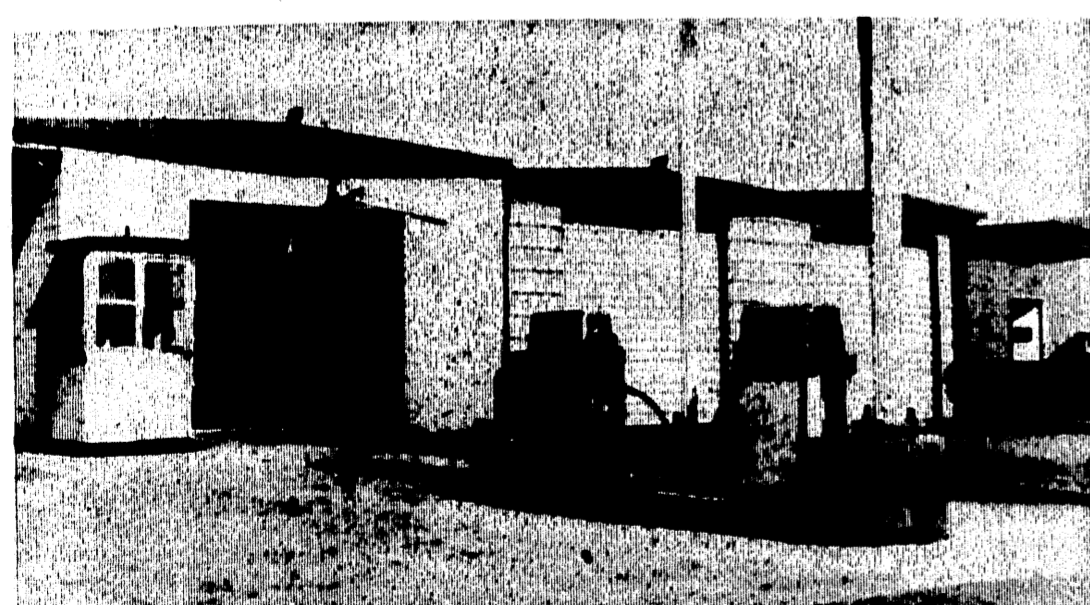

Hunters actually taking to Michigan's fields and forests in 1968 numbered 365,890 in the northern Lower Peninsula, 114,720 in the Upper Peninsula, and 110,770 in the southern Lower Peninsula.

Final figures won't be known until July, but the DNR's preliminary estimates point to a new high in firearm deer license sales, totaling 613,600 in 1968. That projected count tops the record of 605,500 set in 1965.

Ground Broken For Escanaba Nursing Center

Ground was broken officially in ceremonies this morning for the new 106-bed Four Seasons Nursing Center in Escanaba.

Joining the program at the construction site just west of Immanuel Lutheran Church on 5th Ave. S., were Escanaba Mayor Cecil Chase, Chamber of Commerce Manager Walter Lewke and representatives of the Trades and Labor Council.

Construction already has started at the site.

John I. Rukavina, social worker from Marquette, said an identical center is being constructed at Marquette. Both facilities are supported by local investments in participation with Four Seasons Nursing Centers of America, Inc., a national, public corporation.

Jack L. Clark, president of Four Seasons stated that the corporation's concept is to provide comfort, security, safety and skilled nursing care for all categories of geriatrics.

"The unique design of our physical plant lends to this concept in that four individual wings provide for the placement of residents according to the degree of care required, enabling us to acquire the maximum in patient care by staffing and training personnel accordingly."

Rukavina said Four Seasons Nursing Centers combine the best professional care with home like atmosphere to encourage as full a life as health permits.

The Four Seasons Center in Escanaba will be a one story, steel and masonry building that is constructed to give each room an outdoor view. The nursing stations placement is in the "X" shape hub, which allows a full view of all patient areas. The four separate wings extending from the central nursing stations permits the facility to offer patient varying degrees of care.

Four Seasons Nursing Center of Marquette will provide private and semi-private rooms of 2-bed capacity.

Among the facilities and services to be offered at both centers are physical and occupational rooms with therapist, modern kitchen under the supervision of a dietician, dining room, chapel, recreational lounge, game room, a personal care room with barber shop and beauty shop facilities.

Professional staff will be on duty at all times. The facility will employ 50 persons. Welfare patients as well as private patients will be accepted by the Center.

Movie Evaluation Guide Available At Public Library

Evaluations of current motion pictures being shown locally can be obtained from a guide available at the Escanaba Public Library.

The evaluations, called "The Green Sheet: A Monthly Survey of Current Films," are distributed by the Film Estimate Board of National Organizations, which reviews films from the standpoint of suitability for adults, mature young people, young people, general audience, or children. The service has been praised by parent and educational organizations.

Each evaluation gives the screen credits, including the name of the producer and director, the leading players, a brief outline of the plot, and then an estimate of the pictures' entertainment value in the opinion of the organizations reviewing the film. In case of disagreement, the opinion of the dissenting organization is also given.

Organizations evaluating the films include the National Congress of Parents and Teachers, General Federation of Women's Clubs, Protestant Motion Picture Council, American Library Association, Federation of Motion Picture Councils, National Federation of Music Clubs, and other groups.

A separate section lists recent and forthcoming motion pictures based on books and plays.

The library also has the Reader's Guide to Periodical Literature, which indexes reviews of motion pictures and plays which have been published in various national magazines. To receive free copies of the monthly "Green Sheet" write to Film Estimate Board of National Organizations, 522 Fifth Ave., New York 36, N. Y.

College Favors More Housing

The Bay de Noc Community College Board of Trustees in a special meeting at the college Thursday night approved a minor change in a housing resolution as recommended by the Board's attorney in order to meet the standards required by state statutes.

Much time was devoted to discussion of proposed housing policies because of a shortage of suitable housing for students which exists in the community at the present time. The Board went on record as favoring the construction of appropriate housing by private developers within the community to meet the needs of a constantly growing student body.

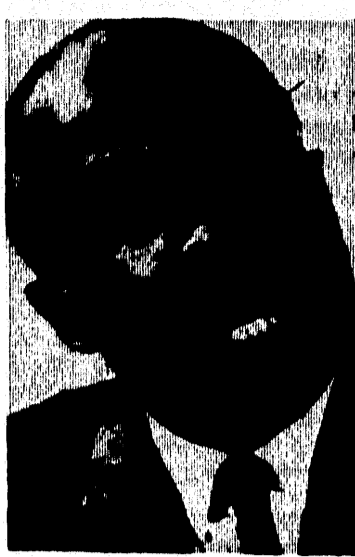

The shortage will continue to exist because of the addition of specialized programs being offered by the College which draw students from an increasingly larger geographical area. Programs such as Practical Nursing, Water and Waste Water Technology, and Industrial Technology are attracting students from other areas.

The Board also standardized the policy on the admission of high school students to vocational programs.

Dr. Richard Rinehart, President of the College, reported that the state legislature had failed to approve planning funds for the proposed Health Education - Convocation-Classroom Building which was planned for occupancy in 1971. Other methods of financing the facility were discussed.

Rinehart also reported that the current legislation regarding appropriations for the operation of the college were in good order and are expected to be continued at the present rate.

The next regular meeting of the Board will be held at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday, June 11, at the College.

Safety Check Is Scheduled

Escanaba's voluntary Vehicle Safety-Check will be held June 28 and 29, Police Chief Richard Frederick announced today.

He urged motorists to "Get the safety habit! Have your car safety-checked free. Even our best driver are poor risks if they are driving cars with bad brakes, worn tires, or other neglected equipment."

"Equally important in our Safety-Check is the challenge to all drivers to check their conduct behind the wheel. Both safe cars and drivers are needed to reduce accidents," he said.

Check lanes will be set up on Jenkins Drive in Ludington Park. The lanes will be open 12 hours a day and will be operated by Escanaba Police Department officers. Vehicles with all equipment in safe condition will receive a Safety-Check windshield sticker.

Brakes, front and rear lights, turn signals, stop lights, steering, tires, exhaust system, glass, windshield wipers and washers, horn and side view mirrors, horn and seat belts are checked.

"Discovering unsafe vehicles now will permit owners to have dangerous conditions corrected before they become a factor in a traffic accident. Many motorists don't know they are driving cars that endanger themselves, their families, and their community," he said.

The Safety-Check in Escanaba is part of the annual National Vehicle Safety-Check and is being sponsored by Escanaba Insurance Agents Association with the cooperation of the Police Department.

SAIGON (AP) — The enemy stepped up attacks across South Vietnam sharply in the last 24 hours, the allied command reported. Viet Cong rockets and mortars hit more than 100 allied bases and towns, while at least 464 Viet Cong and North Vietnamese were reported killed in ground fighting.

Incomplete reports said at least 40 Americans were killed and more than 100 wounded in the ground fighting or by the enemy shelling. South Vietnamese casualties were said to be light.

There was speculation that the upsurge in enemy activity was an attempt to influence the conference between President Nixon and South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu on Midway Island Sunday.

"It's just a little bit more pressure to perhaps cause the meeting at Midway to come up with some sort of concession," a spokesman for the U.S. Command commented. "It is to let the participants at Midway and the world know they are still capable of shooting off a lot of rockets even though the majority didn't do much."

The shelling was the heaviest since May 11, when North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops shelled more than 200 allied bases and towns. The shelling then was a big factor in a sharp jump in U.S. casualties that week to 430 killed.

U.S. headquarters said 46 of the rocket and mortar attacks Thursday night were significant, meaning they caused damage or casualties, but "over-all, casualties and damage were light."

The targets Thursday night included the big Bien Hoa base 15 miles northeast of Saigon, the headquarters of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division 40 miles north of Saigon, and the headquarters of the U.S. 1st Infantry Division 28 miles northwest of Saigon.

Sandra L. McGovern, 800 S. 10th St., Escanaba, graduated with highest honor for having maintained at least a 3.7 scholastic average out of a possible 4 points.

Dog Racing Bill Defeated 54-51

LANSING (AP)—Sponsors of a bill to establish eight greyhound racing tracks in Michigan kept on trying today to sniff out a few more votes in the Michigan House.

The lower chamber Thursday rejected the bill by a narrow 54-51 vote that was just two short of the required majority.

For Reps. Dominic Jacobetti, D-Negaunee, and Roy Spencer, R-Attica, the defeat meant the second miscalculation of support for the plan they estimate could produce $15 million annually beside the $19 million from thoroughbred and harness racing wagers.

Two options remained open. The House was to reconsider its previous thumbs-down vote; and a Senate-proposed bill to allow a winter horse racing schedule was available for possible amendment.

The upper chamber measure, introduced by Sen. William Faust, D-Westland, proposes to allow both flat and harness races from Nov. 15 to March 15.

In the House, however, several legislators called dog racing a dead issue.

"It didn't mean a damn in my district," said one Detroit legislator. "I've voted for dogs before and I can vote against 'em. I just wanted to be sure I could get something for my vote. But they (the greyhound backers) never convinced me."

Tremendous Waste In Paint Brushes

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures Writer

You'd never have to work another day if you had all the money that is wasted by do-it-yourselfers in failing to take proper care of paint brushes.

It's a common practice for a home owner to use a paint brush a single time and then throw it away. Not because he wants to, but because it has become useless due to his failure to clean it properly. Think now, how many of you have paint brushes in the basement or workshop which are as hard as rocks or completely out of shape or both? They'll stay that way until it's time for the next paint job. Then you'll look at them in disgust, decide it's too much trouble to restore them to usefulness and go out and buy a new brush. A few of you, using a chemical brush cleaner, will bring them back to some semblance of life, utilizing time that could have been spent in the actual painting.

All of this can be avoided by taking a few extra moments to clean a brush as soon as you have finished using it. Clean it with the right solvent, which means turpentine or mineral spirits for oil paints, enamel or varnish; water for water-base, rubber-base or latex paints; lacquer thinner for lacquer; denatured alcohol for shellac; and whatever solvent is recommended on the label of certain special finishing materials.

Regardless of whether the brush is being used the next day or at some indefinite time in the future, it should never be placed in any position that will cause the bristles to bend. When the brush is not likely to be used again for a long period, it should be washed with a mild detergent and water after cleaning with the solvent. It should then be wrapped in foil, wax paper, oil cloth or any similar type of wrapping.

person say that it is better to buy an inexpensive brush and discard it after using it a few times than to buy a higher-priced brush that is used only a couple of times a year. This theory overlooks the fact that a good quality brush picks up more paint and thus requires less effort in dipping; that it spreads the paint on more smoothly; that it sheds less; and that it generally produces a better all-around performance.

For large, flat surfaces, a 4-inch brush is about right. A trim or sash brush, about 2 inches wide, is best for woodwork, paneling and trim. A flat or oval sash brush from 1 to 3 inches in width is good for sashes, trellises and things of that nature. Flat varnish or enameling brushes, which are chiseled to permit easier flowing, are excellent for furniture, toys and objects with small, flat surfaces. Chair rungs, table legs and the like are handled better with the narrowest-size sash brush available.

Many smart London shops price their wares in guineas, although the gold guinea, equivalent to one pound and one shilling, was last minted in 1813 and has vanished from circulation.

Hikes Judges' Pay

Bill Could Upset Salary Balance

LANSING (AP)—Each of Michigan's 116 county circuit court judges could earn more than the attorney general or the secretary of state and as much as the 12 judges of the appeals court under a bill the House has passed and sent to the Senate.

The House meets today at 10 a. m.

Rejecting criticism that it was as much as signing checks for $2,000, the House voted Thursday to raise the maximum permissible salary of a circuit court judge to $32,000, $2,000 more than the salaries of Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley and Secretary of State James Hare.

The state now pays a circuit court judge $30,000, but county boards of supervisors may top that amount by $10,000. Should a county's largesse put its judges over the $30,000 top, the state's share may be reduced correspondingly.

Rep. Thomas Sharpe, R-Howell, gadfly opponent of the legal establishment, charged the raise would put Wayne County's judges under two pension systems.

Nothing in the adopted bill, however, would require either the state or counties to raise a circuit court judges' pay.

But when it came to dealing with doctors, the lower chamber found its milk of kindness drained away.

Democrats leaped on a bill proposing a routine, $5 increase in the annual registration fee charged all physicians and surgeons licenses in the state.

Rep. Arthur Law, D-Pontiac, sought variously to raise the current $5 fee to either $25 or $50. He won approval for an amendment at the lower price, but late Republicans blocked passage of the bill.

They called the increased fee proposal an attempt to turn a regulating bill into a head tax.

The House also approved a bill directing the State Education Department to develop education programs dealing with drugs, narcotics, alcohol and tobacco, as well as mental health, dental care and nutrition.

Before voting for the new program, however, the lower chamber stripped out a proposed $200,000 appropriation to finance cooperative programs between school districts and neighboring colleges.

Gunmen Rob Credit Union

PONTIAC (AP)—Ten minutes' work by two gunmen brought in $25,000 Thursday in a holdup of the Pontiac State Hospital Credit Union.

However, in their haste, they missed another $20,000, police said.

Pontiac Detective Lt. John DePauw said the pair entered the union just after it opened at 7 a. m. and forced five employees and three customers into a vault.

They forced the manager to open a safe and made off with the cash, but left behind a canvas bag containing $20,000.

Police are seeking the robbers.

Namath Quits Pro Football

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Namath, the New York Jets' Super Bowl hero, said today he is retiring reluctantly from football.

He indicated the move came because of pressure from Pete Rozelle, commissioner of the National Football League, to discontinue his restaurant interest.

The surprising announcement was made at the lounge known as Bachelors Three, located at 62nd and Lexington Avenue of which Namath is one-third owner.

The football star appeared more than half an hour late in a small narrow room which was crisscrossed with more than 150 news and camera men.

The swarthy, 6-foot-2 quarterback, who was 28 years old May 31, strode into the lounge wearing a blue wind breaker and casual slacks.

"I don't think it's right, so I am getting out of football," the Jets' star told a hurriedly called press conference.

"Rozelle told me I must get out of the restaurant business or be suspended. I am innocent of any wrong-doing. It's the last thing I want to do."

The NFL commissioner reportedly took an unfavorable view of Namath's interest in the restaurant because the place was visited by what he called unsavory characters.

Escanaba Yacht To Compete In Big Boat Race

The yacht "Moonshell," skippered by John Anthony, left Escanaba Thursday morning to cross Green Bay to Sturgeon Bay to compete in the Green Bay Yachting Association's Boat of the Year Race from Sturgeon Bay to Menominee on June 7.

Members of the Moonshell's crew were Walter Zimmermann, Bill Stenbol and Tom Lewis. John Thomas Anthony will join the crew at Sturgeon Bay.

The Boat of the Year Race trophy, established by the Green Bay Press Gazette, will be presented to the sailing yacht which amasses the most points in five races on Green Bay from early June through September.

The five races are the Sturgeon Bay to Menominee Race, June 7; the Sturgeon Bay to Wisconsin Memorial Race, June 21; M&M Yacht Club's 100-Mile Race, July 19; Ephraim Yacht Whalback Shoal Race, July 26 and the M&M Yacht Club 30-Mile Frostbite Race, Sept. 13.

Babe Ruth Nine Registers Split

HERMANVILLE — Manager Dennis McClure's Hermansville Babe Ruth team came out with a split in their recent two encounters on the Hermansville diamond.

On Memorial Day, Niagara, behind an eight run outburst in the first inning, defeated the Hermansville club, 10-6. Mike Maule had two hits for Hermansville while Greg St. Juliana had one. Dave Malone was charged with the loss.

The Hermansville bats were booming in a 22-3 rout of the Iron Mountain Joiners. Hermansville scored ten runs in the first inning. Tim Faccio had four hits in five trips to the plate while St. Juliana, Maule and Dick Holle each had two. Maule was the winning pitcher for Hermansville, limiting the Iron Mountain nine to three hits. The Hermansville club is now 3-2 on the season.

Lions Hold First In Little League

While Rotary's Little League action was washed out, the champs kept an anxious eye on the Lions, who sprinted to the top of the league with shutout victories over Kiwanis and Eagles.

The Lions started their prize rookie Kevin Cutler on the mound last Saturday and picked up their first dividend when the 10-year-old blanked Kiwanis on three hits, 7-0.

Tim Gerue made his first Little League start on Monday evening, hurling a two-hit, 10-0 victory over the Eagles with Cutler providing the power. Cutler's three home runs in one game tied a league record set by Mike Gafner back in 1959.

Meanwhile, Lions catcher Mike Miketina moved into the league batting lead with eight hits in ten trips to the plate for an .800 average.

After dropping two games to the Lions, Kiwanis came back with a couple of football score victories over VFW, 13-0, and Bankers, 10-3, with left handers Ed Legault and Don Bougie working on the hill.

VFW picked up its first win of the season when veteran Jerry Stropich outlasted Credit Union rookie Harvey Gendreau to win, 8-6.

Credit Union came bouncing back, however, as Steve Erickson made his third strong pitching appearance of the season to blank the Bankers, 2-0. Erickson racked up his 42nd strikeout of the season and extended his record to 2-0.

The top game of the coming week will be the Lions showdown with Rotary. But in the meantime, the Lions must keep an eye on the Eagles and Steve Thorin, who have been their stumbling block to the championship twice in the past two years.

CHECK PRESENTATION — Three officers from the Escanaba Area High School student council present a check to Leonard "Gump" Olson of the Athletic Field Improvement Committee for use on the committee's project to light the Escanaba Athletic Field. Giving Olson the check are, left to right, Paula Pearson, Janet Suriano and Janis Hall. The money was raised from 15 per cent of the student picture sale, proceeds from a Halloween party, student newspaper sales, donations at the faculty-eighth grade basketball game and a party sale. ## Wilson To Hurl Tonight For Tigers Against A's DETROIT (AP) — Earl Wilson, who used his last start against Oakland to even his record at 4-4, gets another crack at the Athletics tonight as the Tigers open their last home stand before the resumption of intra-divisional play.

Detroit returned from its lengthy West Coast trip 8½ games out of first place in the American League's Eastern Division.

That's the furthest the Bengals have been out of the lead since Mayo Smith took over the club in 1967.

The Tigers did pretty well on the trip against the likes of Oakland, Seattle and California. But the division-leading Baltimore Orioles did better. And dropping two out of three to the California Angels at the tail end of the trip didn't help.

After three games against the A's, the Tigers host Seattle for three then move to Kansas City for three more. Then the real fun begins as the Tigers start five weeks of Eastern Division action.

At the end of this month, Detroit faces the challenge that very likely will make or break the World Champions' chances of repeating.

The Tigers play 14 straight games against the division's one-two punch, Baltimore and Boston in complicated home-and-home series.

Provided they can avoid losing any more ground between now and then, the competition with the league leaders could put them back into contention.

"All we want," said center-fielder Jim Northrup, "is a clear shot at the Orioles head on. Then if they beat us they're the better team and deserve the pennant. But we want that shot."

Northrup, who is among the team's hitting leaders, isn't dismayed by the team's luke warm performance so far this season. "The big lead doesn't really mean that much," he said. "After all, we had them by 10½ at the All-Star game last year and we couldn't put it away until September."

"I just hope that Boston can stay with them for a while to keep some pressure on them," he said. "It's a lot easier to fight off one team than to worry about two of them."

Tiger pitching continues to be a big headache for manager

Smith. The only consistently strong pitchers have been Denny McLain and Mickey Lolich, who have 14 of Detroit's 26 victories. But Lolich hurt his arm on the trip and won't be able to start before Tuesday at the earliest.

Joe Sparma, after a couple of disastrous performances earlier in the season, came on strong on the road, including a one-hitter and is back in the starting rotation.

Don McMahon and Darryl Patterson have been getting stronger in the bullpen, and Smith may be able to use Pat Dobson as a fifth starter. But if Lolich's arm isn't up to par when he comes back, Detroit could be hurting badly.

Junior Sailing Classes To Open

The Escanaba Yacht Club's junior sailing program will begin this Saturday with registration scheduled for 10 a.m. at the club.

The Yacht Club provides basic sailing and advanced classes in El Toro class sailboats. Regular races are scheduled during the summer and trophies are awarded in several classes according to age.

Henry VanBrussell, junior sailing chairman, has issued an invitation to all young sailors who participated previously, to again join the program. Other youngsters interested in learning to sail should attend the registration meeting accompanied by a parent.

VanBrussell is assisted in the sailing program by Wally Zimmermann and Gene Kaufman. For more information, call 786-7327 or 786-0332.

Wills To Return To Expos Tonight

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Maury Wills was expected to bring his flying feet and grounded bat back to the Montreal Expos tonight, who can use all the help they can get.

The 36-year-old shortstop, who announced his retirement Tuesday night, changed his mind Thursday and notified general manager Jim Fanning of the Expos that he would rejoin the team here for the start of a weekend series with the Dodgers.

Morgan Swings Big Bat As Astros Upend Cards

By The Associated Press
Some guys have one for the road, but Joe Morgan had so many he doesn't want to leave.

The little second baseman for the Houston Astros belted three singles and a homer, starting four rallies that sent Houston to an 11-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Thursday night. But his 4-for-4 night only left him unhappy.

"I needed those hits. But I knew it . . . soon as I get hot, I have to leave for the Army. Tomorrow (Friday) is my last game before reporting," he said of his upcoming two weeks in the military reserve.

The rest of the major league teams took the day off, except for exhibition games in which Atlanta beat its Richmond farm club 8-7, Pittsburgh dropped Kansas City 4-2 and Minnesota edged its Denver farm team 4-3 and Vancouver of the Pacific Coast League upended Montreal 5-3.

Morgan, once one of the brightest prospects in the National League before injuries slowed him in two of his four seasons in the majors, had been having his troubles at the plate and entered the game hitting only .232.

"I've been too anxious at the plate," he said after raising his mark to .240 and scoring four runs, giving him 38 for the year.

Waiting for his pitch against the Cardinals, he singled in the first inning to start a two-run burst, kicked off a three-run rally in the fifth with another single, opened a two-run sixth with his eighth home run and then completed his night with a single.

Detroit Drafts First Baseman

NEW YORK (AP) — The Detroit Tigers, choosing last in the first round because of their 1968 World Championship, Thursday made first baseman Jim Baxley of Redding, Calif., their first choice in baseball's free agent draft.

The 18-year-old Baxley stands 6-2, weighs 182 pounds and bats and throws left handed.

Other top Tiger choices, made for the Bengals' Toledo and Montgomery farm teams, were Michigan State University catcher Harry Kendrick and pitcher William Gilbreth of Abilene, Tex., Central High School.

Other Michigan players selected on high rounds included Michigan State outfielder Dick Miller, by the Boston Red Sox for Louisville, and Niles High School outfielder Jim Johnson, by Pittsburgh for Columbus.

Now his problem is to keep his hot bat during his two-week military stint and then avoid the injuries that wrecked him for six weeks in 1966 and for four months last season. Thus far, he has been in all of Houston's 54 games.

The 5-foot-7, 150-pound dynamo, turned down by several teams because he was so small, still managed to hit .285 in 1966 and .250 in 1968, although he got into only 10 games last year. In his two full years, he hit .271 with 100 runs scored as a rookie in 1965 and managed a .275 mark in 1967.

Morgan's safeties—he walked his other trip to the plate—helped the Astros end a four-game losing streak and dropped the disappointing Cardinals 11 games out of first place in the East Division.

Jim Wynn, batting behind

Morgan, reached base four times on two hits and two walks and also scored four times as Denis Menke drove in three runs and Norm Miller, John Edwards and Jesus Alou each knocked in two in the 13-hit assault against five pitchers.

But the Astros, who came from behind a 4-2 deficit to win, needed six pitchers to stop the Cardinals as Tim McCarver had two RBI and Mike Shannon hit a solo homer.

Tommie Aaron hit two solo homers, Bob Tullman added a two-run shot and Sonny Jackson hit one with two on in Atlanta's victory.

Willie Stargell broke a 1-1 tie with a run-scoring double in the third inning as Pittsburgh took the lead to stay against the Royals.

Minnesota made up a 2-0 deficit and then broke a 3-3 tie in the ninth on Bob Allison's two-out, run-scoring double.

Football Owners Hope For Answer

NEW YORK (AP) — The pro football club owners pressed on with time-consuming committee reports today, hoping to have some time left over before adjourning to again tackle the problem of realignment.

The 13 teams which will comprise the National Conference in the two-conference structure of pro football beginning in 1970 struggled with the realignment problem Monday and Tuesday without coming up with a solution and then put the problem aside until joint meetings ended.

If the 13 teams do not have time to take up the discussion or cannot agree they likely will reconvene again some time next month.

While solving that problem was left for the final day, time permitting, the 26 owners did decide Thursday on a schedule format beginning in 1970 that calls for a nine-year rotation in which every team will play every other one during that period.

Here's how the schedule will work in 1970:

Each team in a four-team division will play home-and-home games with the other teams in its division plus three games in the other four-team division and two games in the five-team division. They also will meet three teams in the other 13-team conference.

A team in the five-team division will play home-and-home with the other teams in its division plus two games in one of the four-team divisions and one game in the other four-team division. They also will meet three teams in the other 13-team conference.

The one exception is Denver, which is in a four-team division of the American Conference. The Broncos will play one more National Conference opponent each year for the first five years of the rotation.

Scheduled to be resolved to day were the format for inter-league trading in 1970, the player limit for 1969 and renewal of the contract for the Chicago All-Star Game.
